REVOLUTION THREATENED ON ISTHMUS

Situation Is Critical and Trouble Was Only Prevented by Barrett's Tact.

COMMISSION MADDENS PANAMA GOVERNMENT

Charged That Admiral Walker Has Been Autocratic and Has Treated the Isthmus Like a Conquered Province—Armed Clash Imminent.

Special Cable.

Panama, September 9.—A crisis is at hand in the affairs of Panama. The most important question affecting the future of the republic will be settled during the next two weeks. Public feeling has been aroused to fever pitch. It has now cooled down partially, but it is eagerly awaiting the outcome of the negotiations between John Barrett, minister of the United States, and Don Tomas Arias, the Panama secretary of government.

For a time so excited were the people of Panama that there were open threats of another revolution and of a return to the jurisdiction of Colombia.

The issue under discussion is the vital one of control of the ports or harbors at the two ends of the canal. Panama claims that, according to article 2 of the treaty, they are hers and must be under her jurisdiction and sovereignty in order to protect her revenues and foreign trade. The commission insist that article 2 has no such meaning and that it will be impossible for the United States to construct and control the canal unless it has absolute authority over the two entrances.

Armed Clash Imminent.

As preliminary steps for an understanding the American minister, by the exercise of tact and consideration for the interests of Panama, has gained the confidence of the Panama government and people. The distrust and bitterness toward the United States grew out of the autocratic methods and acts of the commission. Mr. Barrett undoubtedly prevented an armed clash between the Panama and zone port and police officials that would have created a sensation in the United States and awakened intense feeling in Panama against the Americans.

Acting as a sort of mediator, or buffer, between the abrupt, undiplomatic methods of the commission and the gentle Latin ways of the Panama government leaders, who are as sensitive of their independence and dignity as if their country were as large as Mexico or Great Britain, Mr. Barrett has saved President Roosevelt from the criticism of acting arbitrarily and imperiously in the administration of the zone.

While it is generally conceded that Admiral Walker, General Davis and their associates are able men and suited for control of the construction of the canal, it is freely asserted here, in both official and private circles, that they are evidently not schooled in diplomacy. They are too inclined to treat Panama as a subordinate and dependent section of the United States and not like an independent state, as the treaty provides. Anybody familiar with Latin statesmen and people can readily understand why, therefore, the commission ran against a dangerous snag when it tried to pilot the zone ship of state into the channel of successful existence. Don Tomas Arias, the head of President Amador's cabinet, is known to have said that Admiral Walker and General Davis, although meaning well, seemed to regard him as the governor of some American colony instead as the principal diplomatic officer of an independent government, and that it was only since the arrival of the American minister that the United States had commenced to transact diplomatic business with Panama as it would with any other self-respecting state.

Admiral Walker Caused Anger.

Admiral Walker, during this present stay on the isthmus, has twice annoyed the Panama government by disregarding all diplomatic regulations in his method of taking up matters that involve relations between the zone and Panama governments. In each instance, however, Minister Barrett has poured oil on the troubled waters of the little republic's dignity, despite the fact that Admiral Walker's course has not been respectful to the legation.

The method of the commission, against which there is so much protest, was to tell Panama flatly, without argument, that it could not have what it wanted and the United States would stick to that position, no matter how much Panama objected. This attitude aroused indignation among Panamans and would surely have led to a conflict that would have greatly embarrassed President Roosevelt.

As soon as Mr. Barrett arrived he pre-

RUSSIAN PRISONERS IN A JAPANESE TEMPLE HOUSE.

JAPAN is treating the Russian prisoners most handsomely. Frederic Villiers, the London artist now in Japan writes: "The prisoners' great coats, in which they had lived and fought in Manchuria, seem now to take a perpetual airing outside the temple and on entering their prison the Russians leave their top boots round and about the doorstep as is the custom in Japan. The prisoners here shown are at their midday meal, which they are allowed to cook themselves. Those who wait on their comrades or have to move about outside the building do not approach further with their boots on than the top step of the temple. I am glad to testify that I have never, in the course of my many campaigns, seen prisoners so well cared for as these Russians are by the Japanese."

FOUR KILLED, 35 INJURED IN WRECK ON SEABOARD

Passenger Train Went Through Trestle Followed by Locomotive and Caboose.

WORK DONE BY WRECKERS ROAD OFFICIALS CLAIM

Rail Joints Had Been Disconnected. Engine Left Tracks at End of Trestle, Which Caused Derailment of Train and Mangling of Passengers.

Portsmouth, Va., September 9.—Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning train No. 41, on the Seaboard Air Line railroad, consisting of an express car, a mail car, two day coaches and a Pullman sleeper, was derailed and went through a trestle just south of the Catawba river, South Carolina, and 22 miles southwest of Monroe, N. C., followed by the wreck of a light engine and caboose, which tumbled in on the wreckage, resulting in the death of four persons and the injuring of thirty-five others.

Dead:

E. Y. Barksdale, engineer, Abbeville, S. C.

Mrs. T. F. Black.

Unknown lady.

Ed. Roberts, colored, fireman train 41, Atlanta.

White Persons Injured.

Mrs. James Clay, Oakland, Tenn., fractured jaw.

Mr. T. C. Jerome, Atlanta, Ga., slightly bruised.

Mrs. T. C. Jerome, Atlanta, Ga., shoulder and head injured.

Dr. Edward Banks, Athens, Ga., back injured.

Mrs. Sidney Herbert, Maitland, Fla., left foot amputated.

Mr. Jerome Silvey, Atlanta, Ga., uninjured.

Mrs. Jerome Silvey, Atlanta, Ga., bruised (left hereon 33).

Mr. G. W. Hinuson, Lenox, Ga., jaw injured (left here on 33).

Negroes Injured.

Tom Mitchell, brakeman No. 19, Abbeville, injured head and shoulders.

Robert Henderson, Woodward, S. C., head injured.

Pink Carpenter, flagman, Monroe, S. C., head and body injured.

George Nash, Greenwood, S. C., slightly bruised.

The following negroes are reported slightly injured:

Robert Sigler, Trenton, S. C.
Dave Williams, Clark Hill, S. C.
Jesse Nanch, McCormick, S. C.
John Evans, Charlotte, N. C.
John Thomas, Summerville, Tenn.
Alex Smith, White Oak, N. C.
Andrew Green, Columbia, S. C.
John Hyman, Charlotte, N. C.
V. S. Elbery, Pullman porter.

At the offices of the Seaboard Air Line in this city it was stated that immediately after the receipt of the news of the accident a special train with wrecking outfit and doctors started from Monroe to the scene of the wreck. The dead and injured were brought back to Monroe.

J. M. Barr, president of the road, said today that there was evidence of a malicious attempt to wreck the train, a number of rail joints having been found

ATLANTANS ON TRAIN BUT WERE NOT INJURED

Officials in Atlanta of the Seaboard Air Line railroad have received advices from the scene of the wreck of train No. 41, containing evidence which they believe is sufficient to warrant the statement that the wreck was caused by miscreants who tampered with the track and the bridge.

Special Agent Fitzwater, who was soon at the scene, wired the Atlanta office that there was evidence that the joints of the bridge had been disconnected. What object such a miscreant could have had in view is not known by the officials, unless it was that of robbery.

The horror of the wreck was added to when the closely following freight train plunged on top of the passenger coaches and added new fatalities to the list and injured of those who might otherwise have escaped without a scratch.

One of the most remarkable features of the wreck was the fortunate manner in which seven Atlantans escaped without serious injuries. These Atlantans were in the midst of the wreck and people all around them were killed and seriously injured, but not a single Atlantan was so badly injured that he was not able to proceed on train No. 33, which brought the passengers on to Atlanta.

A number of the Atlantans reached the city last evening shortly before 7 o'clock. They either told their own stories for The Constitution or gave accounts of other Atlantans who did not arrive.

They gave interesting accounts of the awful plunge of the train.

Atlantans in the Wreck.

When the list of injured was first announced by the Seaboard officials it contained the names of a number of well known Atlantans It was not know at that time to what extet they were injured, and considerable alarm was felt by their friends and relatives. In a short while, however, prvate telegrams and telephone messages were recenived from most of them and the remarkable fact was developed that not a single Atlantan was seriously injured.

Th local offices of the Seaboard were besieged by friends of those in the wreck and the officials made every possible effort to secure information and made it public at the earliest moment.

Early in the day telegrams were received from Jerome Silvey, of the Silvey-Truitt Hat company, stating that neither he nor Mrs. Silvey were injured. Their names appeared in the list of injured, and it was feared for a while that they had been seriously hurt, although Mrs. Silvey was taken home in an ambulance because of bruises.

J. Frank Meador, of Atlanta, was a passenger on the wrecked train. He wired to relatives that he had escaped without injury of a serious nature. He did not reach Atlanta last night, having left the train at Greenwood.

G. H. Davis, of 165 Lee street, who works for the Southern Express Company, was slightly injured. He was in the midst of the wreck and had a marvelous escape from instant death.

William Byrd, 14 years of age, son of Rev. C. P. Byrd, pastor of the First Methodist church, was not the train as was first reported. His father and relatives were alarmed when they read the report of the wreck in The Constitution. He had been visiting in North Carolina and was to have been on the train. For some reason, however, he missed the train and has telegraphed that he will arrive today.

Two other Atlantans on the ill-fated train were Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Jerome. Mr. eJrome is connected with the Southern Express Company, and was returning from his vacation, having gone to Virginia with his wife. According to reports received by railroad officials neither Mr. Jerome nor his wife was seriously injured. He did not reach Atlanta last night.

rs. Sidney Herbert, formerly of Atlanta, wife of the well known newspaper writer and author, was injured to such an extent that it became necessary to amputate her left foot. She is well known in Atlanta, where both she and her husband have a wide circle of friends who were grati-

FIRST WRECK INJURED; SECOND ONE KILLED HIM

Abbeville, S. C., September 9.—(Special.)—Edward Barksdale, engineer on the Seaboard Air Line railway, killed this morning in the acident at Catawba trestle, was a son of J. H. Barksdale, a prominent farmer near the city. He was 26 years old and unmarried. He had been in railroad service six years and was held in high esteem.

Mr. Barksdale was recently injured in an accident on the Atlantic and Birmingham railroad and sent to the hospital in Atlanta, and this was his first trip after discharge therefrom.

TWO KILLED ON SOUTHERN.

Freight Locomotive Jumped Track and Turned Completely Over.

Birmingham, Ala., September 9.—Two men were killed and another seriously injured in a freight wreck on the Southern, between Dogwood and Wilton, on the Birmingham and Selma division, this afternoon:

The dead:

W. H. CHERRY, engineer.
WILL IVEY, negro brakeman.

Dangerously injured:

N. L. Snow, white fireman.

While details of the wreck are meager, it seems that the train was running at 30 miles an hour when the engine jumped the track and struck the crossties, turning completely over, crushing the engineer beneath it. Several other employees of the road are said to have been bruised, but not seriously hurt.

Keel of New Steamer Laid.

London, September 9.—The keel of the new German Lloyd line steamer has already been laid at Stettin, according to the shipping Gazette, which in size and speed is designed to surpass the new Turbine steamers of the Cunard line.

RUSSIAN DEAD LEFT TO JAPS

Retreat Too Hurried To Bury Lost Comrades.

St. Petersburg Declares Oyama Has Given Up Attempt to Block Retreat of Russians—Only Outpost Actions Wile Both Armies Rest.

St. Petersburg, September 10, 1:50 a. m.—It seems to be definitely established that Field Marshal Oyama's tired troops practically abandoned on Wednesday the attempt to head off General Kuropatkin and the latter's army has arrived safely at Mukden after frightful experiences in floundering through mud and mire over the Mandarin roads.

Some descriptions of the scenes along the line of retreat are almost incredible. They tell how the men lay down in the mud and slept in a drenching rain without shelter.

It is evident that the last determined effort of the Japanese to bring Kuropatkin to bay was made on Tuesday, but the Russian commander in chief faced about two corps with artillery beat off the Japanese while the remainder of the troops continued the march to Mukden. After that, the Japanese could only hang on to the flanks and try to shell the retreating columns from the hills. The outposts are still in contact, but they are not even exchanging shots.

A late Associated Press dispatch, sent tonight from Mukden, described the horrible plight of the tentless and shelterless soldiers.

Losses to Reach 50,000.

The detailed statement of Russian losses, which it is promised will be issued Saturday, is awaited with inferest. The general expectation is that the losses will approximate 20,000 as against 30,000 for the Japanese.

The work of burying the dead was left to the Japanese, but the task was almost impossible. The awful rains have handicapped the work of cremation on which the Japanese relied and only shallow trench burials were possible under the circumstances. Not only is this work one of the greatest difgculty, but it is almost valueless from a sanitary point of view, the storms undoing it soon after it is accomplished.

The care of the wounded has taxed the hospitals to the utmosf. One correspondent says that 12,000 wounded had passed through the Mukden hospitals up to Sunday, and only the most severe cases could be attended to by the nurses and surgeons.

Many, therefore, had to be left to the rough, but well-meant, care of their comrades.

Russians Changed Generals.

One of the chief advantages possessed by Field Marshal Oyama according to the Russian experts, consisted in the greater elasticity in the movement and in handling on account of the separation of the three respective armies of General Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu.

anese armies had been so acting.

On his arrival at the seat of war Lieutenant General Bilderling, of the Seventeenth army corps, took over the command of General Ivanoff, who, though a seasoned and tried commander, familiar with his men, with the field of battle and with the tactics of the Japanese, had to give way to a man older in years, who possessed none of these advantages.

The changes in commanders at such a critical time is considered here to have been extremely unfortunate. Although it is admitted that the eastern army had to face Kuroki, who has earned a reputation as the most skillful of the Japanese leaders, the poor showing which it made in comparison with the southern army, under Zaroubaieff perhaps not altogether unjustifiable, might be attributed to this change of commanders and the battle might have been won if Bilderling had been able to duplicate in the east the splendid fight which Zaroubaieff made against Oku.

ASK FREE HAND FOR KUROPATKIN

Russian Papers Protest Against Interference by Alexieff.

Viceroy Wants Troops Sent to Vladivostok and Harbin Instead of to Front—"Do or Die" Spirit of Japs Mostly Needed, Says the Russ.

St. ePtersburg, September 9.—An impenetrable curtain seems to have been rung down on the exact situation at the theater of war. The lack of news here concerning the details of the Russian retreat to Mukden and the movements of the Japanese armies may be described as complete. Even the meager reports published in the foreign press are not fully communicated to the Russian papers and for days no newspaper dispatches have been coming through from the front.

They may be held for strategic reasons, but the public is disposed to regard it as otherwise, resulting in the circulation of the wildest reports, some of the Russian papers demanding in a very outspoken manner, a reorganization of the conditions at the front and also demanding that General Kuropatkin be given untrammelled control as commander in chief, evidently aiming at Viceroy Alexieff, who is supposed to be responsible for insisting latterly that the reinforcements should go to Vladivostok in view of the probability of early Japanese operations there or at Harbin, thus depriving Kuropatkin of troops which might have turned the scale at Liao-Yang.

The Russ is especially bold considering the restrictions placed on the Russian press. It declares that numerical superiority is not enough and that what is needed is some of the "do or die" spirit of the Japanese.

The paper quotes the words of General Dragomiroff, former governor general of Kieff, an authority on military matters, as follows:

All Depends on Ranks.

"Give me a soldier who is firmly determined to die for his country and I will guarantee that my tactics will be superexcellent. The man who will lay down his life is terrible. A bullet may stop one such man, but it will not stop a company. It is difficult to fight and more difficult to vanquish them."

The Russ continues:

"What we need is an entirely new organization of everything connected directly or indirectly with the military operations. A good deal is admirable, but a god deal also is deplorable. The fact that things have not gone well at the theater of war may be due to the fact that everything is not directed with a single aim, subservient to a single, undivided will. General Kuropatkin now entrusted with the command of the Manchurian army, should be commander in chief."

The following dispatch, filed at Libau, has been received from the captain of the Russian cruiser Urel:

"Have just returned from a third day's expedition, raiding the enemy's contraband on the Spanish coast."

The announcement that the water supply of Port Arthur has been cut off does not create particular anxiety here. It is explained that the water of Port Arthur was never good and that the fortress is provided with a large distilling apparatus.

TO DISCUSS TIME EXTENSION.

Kentucky Commission to Hear Lumberman's Complaint.

Frankfort, Ky., September 9.—On complaint of the Lumberman's Club against the Louisville Car Service Association, the Kentucky railroad commission will tomorrow determine the question of whether it has authority to require the latter to extend from 48 to 72 hours the time allowed by railroad companies running into Kentucky for the unloading of cars containing lumber and other freight before adding charges for car services. It is understood that the extension will be ordered. The railroad companies affected deny the authority of the state commission to interfere and the question will be litigated in the courts. Argument of the question was made here today before the commission.

KNIGHTS SEE THE SIGHTS.

Templars Have Completed Work of National Encampment.

San Francisco, September 9.—The Knights Templar having completed the work of their national encampment are devoting the remainder of the week to sight seeing and social enjoyment.

Today many of them crossed the bay to witness the celebration of admission day at Oakland by the Native Sons of the Golden West. Several hundred Knights and their ladies inspected the fortifications of the harbor and a large number participated in other excursions.

Receptions were held by nearly all the committees.

CRUSHED UNDER SHAFT KNEELING BY GRAVE.

NEW YORK, September 9.—While kneeling beside a grave in Washington cemetery at Gravesend, Yetta Belkowitz, 18 years old, has been crushed to death by the family monument, a heavy granite shaft, which toppled over. Investigation led to the belief that the foundation of the monument might have been undermined by the digging of a grave near by, and two of the grave diggers were arrested.

Forty Thousand Men Under Meyendorff Protecting Entire Army Against Kuroki.

COLUMN OF 12,000 MEN SURROUNDED BY JAPANESE

Japanese on Three Sides and Force Has Hardly Any Hope of Getting Away—Main Army Pushing North from Mukden.

LONDON, SEPTEMBER 9.—THE DAILY EXPRESS CLAIMS TO HAVE TRUSTWORTHY INFORMATION THAT THE RUSSIAN ARMY IS DIVIDED INTO FIVE COLUMNS. THE FIRST HAS REACHED TIE PASS, 40 MILES NORTH OF MUKDEN, AND IS PREPARING TO DEFEND THAT PLACE AGAINST THE JAPANESE.

THE SECOND IS MIDWAY BETWEEN MUKDEN AND TIE PASS. THE THIRD IS AT MUKDEN. THE FOURTH, CONSISTING OF 40,000 MEN, UNDER GENERAL MEYENDORFF, IS HOLDING GENERAL KUROKI IN CHECK BY HARD FIGHTING 12 MILES SOUTH OF MUKDEN.

THE FIFTH, OF ABOUT 12,000, IS FURTHER SOUTH, EXHAUSTED BY INCESSANT FIGHTING AND IS SURROUNDED ON THREE SIDES BY THE JAPANESE, ITS POSITION BEING ONE OF EXTREME DANGER, FROM WHICH IT CAN HARDLY HOPE TO ESCAPE.

"EVERYTHING NOW DEPENDS," SAYS THE PAPER, "ON MEYENDORFF'S ABILITY TO HOLD KUROKI IN CHECK, WHICH THUS FAR HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY DONE."

THERE is still a lack of specific information regarding the exact situation in Manchuria. The Russian general staff, lacking details, is unable to speak authoritatively, while advices from Japanese sources are significantly lacking.

It is established that the Russian army is safely at Mukden and that the retreat was accomplished in good order, in spite of the harassing Japanese, sodden roads and the fact that Kuropatkin was hampered by more than 12,000 wounded.

There is nothing yet to indicate the exact whereabouts of the three Japanese armies. When last heard from, Kuroki's forces were on the Russian left flank and steadily pushing northward, but Viceroy Alexieff reports that railway and telegraph communication between Mukden and Harbin is uninterrupted. General Sakharoff reports that there was no fighting during Thursday, and, while the outposts are still in contact, they are not even exchanging shots.

It seems to be established that Oyama's troops practically abandoned on Wednesday the attempt to head off Kuropatkin and that the last determined effort to bring the Russian commander to bay was made on Tuesday. A detailed list of Russian losses is promised today (Saturday) and it is thought that these loses will approximate 20,000, as against 30,000 for the Japanese. It is officially reported that Kuropatkin has not been wounded.

The last news from Mukden came in a dispatch to the Associated Press filed Friday night. It tells of a great downpour of rain, accompanied by thunder and lightning, which, the correspondent says, is considered advantageous, as it has checked the movements of the Japanese eastern and southern armies. The correspondent adds that quiet reigns over the whole front.

There is no news from Port Arthur.

SHANGHAI, September 9.—Night—A special messenger of the Tartar general at Mukden, who escaped from that city through the cordon of Russian outposts, reports, acording to advices here, that the Russian army is entirely confused and demoralized, especially the remains of the two Russian army corps which recently joined General Kuropatkins forces.

MUKDEN, September 9, 12:30 A. M.—All continues quiet at Mukden. All anxiety regarding the Russian transport is over. The Japanese have crossed the Shakhe and are now resting. Only the Russian and Japanese outposts are in direct contact. Thousands of wounded are being taken north.

The reassuring dispatch of the Associated Press dispatch from Mukden received shortly after midnight, is the latest word from the front. It disposes of the many sensational rumors and indicates that Field Marshal Oyama has failed to cut off or seriously interfere with the retreating Russian army, which has now safely arrived at Mukden.

BERLIN, September 9.—A dispatch to The Lokal Anzeiger from Mukden, timed 11:40 a. m. today, says the evacuation of Mukden is now in progress and adds that the Japanese have not yet crossed the river Hun, which flows a few miles south of Mukden.

The dispatch further says: The Viborg regiment, of which Emperor William is commander, before advancing to storm the village of Sykwantun, September 8, was drawn up in front of the tent of Major Von Runckel, the German military attache, and cheered for the German emperor. The regiment, in carrying Sykwantun, lost two officers and fifty men killed and 150 oficers and men wounded, including the colonel of the regiment. It afterwards retired in good order.

RUSSIAN ARMY DESERTERS HURRIED BACK TO CANADA

Ogdensburg, N. Y., September 9.—The Russian army deserters arrived here today without funds or passports and were sent back to Canada. Several others who entered recently are now working as farm hands. One Russian who is still wearing a part of his army uniform said that he deserted with an entire outpost of fifty men.

ASKOLD WILL LAY UP IN SHANGHAI HARBOR

Shanghai, September 9.—Night.—The Russian protected cruiser Askold will leave her dock tomorrow and proceed to the upper harbor, where she will lay up after discharging her ammunition.

ONLY RUSSIAN SHIPS TO FLY MUSCOVITE FLAG

St. Petersburg, September 9.—A law has been gazetted providing that henceforth only ships owned by Russians shall be allowed to fly the Russian flag.

JAPANESE FORCES RESTING BEFORE MUKDEN'S WALLS

St. Petersburg, September 9.—Official news from the front today confirms the dispatch of the Associated Press from Mukden that the Japanese are resting their main forces, but their outposts are in contact with the Russians. The latter continue to hold Sintsinsin, 66 miles east of Mukden, to prevent a Japanese column from slipping through and making its way north.

The reports that six more army corps are to be mobilized are untrue. As stated in these dispatches, only two corps are mobilizing and at present there will be no object in mobilizing more than the railroad is able to transport.

The present facilities permit the transportation of a little over one corps each month, but this is expected to be increased with the completion of the Circum-Baikal railroad, which Prince Hilkoff, minister of railroads, who is supervising the work, reports is expected to commence operations within a few days.

The war office promises to give out detailed figures tomorrow in regard to the number of Russian wounded. The press dispatches place the figure at over 12,000.

RAILROAD AND WIRES WORKING TO MUKDEN

St. Petersburg, September 9.—A dispatch has been received from Viceroy Alexieff announcing that the railroad and telegraph line between Harbin and Mukden are both uninterrupted.

Bladder Diseases

It is folly to suppose that so-called "kidney cures" will cure bladder trouble, though they are generally advertised for this purpose. And neither will a remedy intended for rheumatism do it. These are distinct and separate diseases, and Dr. J. Newton Hathaway, the noted specialist treats each case according to its requirements. That his method is the right one is attested by his excellent success in this class of diseases, including, in fact, all diseases of a uric acid nature. You cannot find a better treatment than the doctor has for cystitis, inflammation of the bladder, too frequent desire to urinate, retention of urine, enlargement of the prostate, bed-wetting, diabetes, Bright's disease and all other diseases which interfere with the urinary functions. In gravel, stone in the bladder, uric and calculi, etc., the doctor has been especially successful. Men and women having such diseases are invited to call on Dr. Hathaway for free examination and advice. He will tell you just what is the matter with you and how best to cure it. If you decide to take treatment the charge will be a very reasonable one and he will try to cure you in as short a space of time as possible. He has a booklet on the subject of urinary diseases which he will gladly send to distant patients who cannot call in person, and he will include a Self-Examination blank, etc., all free. Write for them; they will show you how to be cured. The doctor's address is J. Newton Hathaway, M. D., 33 Inman Bldg., 22½ S. Broad St., Atlanta, Ga. Office hours 8:30 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sundays, 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

ARMY FELL BACK IN GOOD ORDER

Just Like Dress Parade Says Russian Correspondent.

Losses of Two Armies Will Reach 50,000, Declares Associated Press Correspondent Who Stayed With Russian Army Throughout Liao-Yang Fight.

Mukden, September 9.—The Russian retreat here has been accomplished without losses, and with the precision of a review at Krasnoye Selo.

The accumulation of wounded between Liao-Yang and Mukden tested to the utmost the resources of the Red Cross. Most of the transport was carried in the roughest kind of two-wheeled carts, but the arrangements for providing the troops with food along the line of retreat worked magnificently.

During the five days from August 30 to September 4, 12,000 wounded were treated in Red Cross ambulances, the Sisters of Mercy vieing with the doctors in physical courage, and resistance to fatigue.

Much of the Japanese successes is attributed to the millet fields, in which the Russians were not accustomed to maneuver.

Declares Losses Enormous.

A correspondent of the Associated Press who has just returned to Mukden with the Russian rear guard, after having accompanied the army the whole time since the battle of Liao-Yang, says the losses on both sides were enormous. As a moderate estimate he places them at 50,000.

He confirms the reports that the fighting at Liao-Yang recalled in fierceness the sanguinary battles of the American civil war. General Kuroki's flank movement east of the Russian position precipitated the retreat from Liao-Yang. When the Russians left Liao-Yang the town was strewn with corpses of the slain.

The Japanese shell fire continued until September 4, when the bridges over the Taitse were destroyed. The Russians admit that their positions at Liao-Yang were too extended for their army to hold. The greater portion of the Russian forces crossed the Taitse during the night of September 2 and engaged General Kuroki with two corps. The fighting on the first day was favorable to the Russians, but the conditions changed at night.

Infantry Suffered Heavily.

The Russian infantry suffered heavily from shrapnel and rifle fire. The fighting was continued September 3 and 4, the Russians successfully protecting the east side of the railroad. When the Japanese approached Yentai they immediately commenced to attack it. The Russian transport began to retreat at midnight September 4, and was attacked 3 miles from Yentai on the morning of September 5 along the Mukden road. The Russians pushed out two corps and much artillery to protect their right flank.

The condition of the roads rendered the retreat slow and the troops and horses were tired out. The Japanese seemed to lack enterprise and failed to recognize the serious situation of the Russians, the morale of their troops having been severely tried.

A Japanese army of 40,000 men is reported to be west of Mukden, and it is considered likely, in view of the condition of the two armies, that hostilities may be indefinitely prolonged when the Japanese are able to push on and force the Russians to give battle.

STORY OF RUSSIAN CRUELTY DISBELIEVED BY JAPANESE

Tokio, September 9.—A private telegram received here says that a small Russian expedition from Kamtchatka visited Senshu island, north of the Island of Hokadai, and in the absence of the men killed the women and children and burned the houses. Official confirmation is lacking in regard to this report, which seems incredible.

RUSSO-CHINESE BANK CLOSED AT MUKDEN

Mukden, September 9.—The Russo-Chinese bank at Mukden has been closed and the civil authorities are preparing to leave.

NEW MINISTER LIKED BY RUSSIAN LIBERALS

St. Petersburg, September 9.—Prince Peter Sviatopolk-Mirsky, the new minister of the interior, has gone to Vilna and will remain there until after the unveiling of the monument to Catherine the Great, September 25, when he will return and assume active direction of the ministry of the interior. His appointment has been received with much favor, especially by the liberals, as foreshadowing a broader and milder administration of the internal affairs of the empire.

HEAVY RAIN AT MUKDEN STOPS JAPANESE ADVANCE.

Mukden, September 9.—This evening around Mukden has occurred the greatest downpour of rain of the whole campaign, and with it a terrifying accompaniment of thunder and lightning. This caused great difficulty in preventing the cavalry stampeding by the double guards and all the horse lines have been tied. The men are scarcely able to keep their feet around the moving horses and are singing and talking to quiet them.

All the lower ground is under water and Chinese boats from the Hun river are naviging many of the roads and some of the streets. This makes little difference to the men who are under canvas, but all others are soaked to the skin and are sleeping exhausted in mud and water, indifferent to the weather if they can snatch much-wanted rest.

One advantage is that the rain has entirely checked the movements of the Japanese eastern and southern armies—in fact, quiet reigns over the whole front.

The Chinese population of Mukden is so far fairly orderly. The Chinese are suffering greatly and in the villages all around crops, cattle and poultry have been trodden down and killed. The Russians are endeavoring to pay for all damages, though this is often difficult, owing to the rapid shifting of the troops.

REVOLUTION THREATENED

sented his credentials to President Amador in a speech which appealed to the sympathies and wounded feelings of the Panamans. He then fixed up a modus vivendi with President Amador, which immediately removed the danger of a riot, which was imminent. He followed this step with assurances to the sensitive Panamans that the United States would do nothing inconsistent with the honor and interests of both republics.

First, the minister advanced the idea to the Panama minister of foreign relations that the chief actual point involved was the practical one of protecting Panama's revnue and trade, and not the sentimental one of sovereignty. Therefore he advised negotiations along the broad lines laid down in President Roosevelt's order to General Davis of June 24, which specifically provides for the drawing up of an agreement which will fully protect Panama's' revenue and trade. Secondly, and finally, he brought the Panama government to the realization and admission that the United States was right by reading to President Amador and Secretary Arias the famous letter which Bunau-Varilla, as Panama's' representative in the negotiations on the canal treaty, addressed to Secretary Hay January 19, 1904, in which he himself as the plenipotentiary of the republic, supported by the junta in Panama, pointed out, in order to prevent an amendment of the treaty by congress, that the United tSates had absolute and complete control as if sovereign over the two ports respectively at the entrances of the canal.

Situation Critical.

The situation is still critical, but the American minister has won his point and the confidence of the Panama government and people, while, at the same time, paving the way for the final negotiations which will begin in the near future, and nipping in the bud a revolution which might have attempted to turn out the Amador government if it had consented to the abrupt demands of the commission. This would surely have resulted in the armed interference of the United States by the use of the marines at Empire, and produced a dilemma of great embarrassment and difficulty.

PARKER HEADS FOR NEW YORK

Candidate Will Get In Closer Touch with the Leaders.

New York, September 9.—There is every reason to believe that Judge Parker will make arrangements to come to New York for temporary residence soon after his formal letter of acceptance is made public.

It is known that leading democrats have strongly represented to him that his continued presence at such an inconvenient location as Rosemount, with no hotel accommodations, has kept him from personal contact with many prominent men who are frequently in New York city, but who have no time for the journey to Esopus. The plan has even progressed as far as the making tentative arrangements for him to take a suite of rooms here.

According to those close in Judge Parker's counsels, his idea is to be immediately in touch with the party leaders and accessible to those whom it is needful and desirable to meet as the campaign progresses.

Parker Works on Speech.

Esopus, N. Y., September 9.—There were no visitors at Rosemount today. Rain fell all day, but this fact did not prevent Judge Parker taking his daily ride.

Judge Parker has completed his letter of acceptance, but it has not been sent to the printer and probably will not be for several days.

William F. Sheehan, chairman of the national executive committee, is expected here tomorrow to remain over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan expect to reopen Atwood, their house on the Hudson, 2 miles south of Rosemount.

ARTESIAN WATER PROPOSALS.

Parties Who Would Like to Supply Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., September 9.—(Special.) The Frank Cutter Company today made a proposition to the Columbus city council to build a plant that will furnish the city 3,000,000 gallons of artesian water daily for $125,000. Under the proposition the water is to be conducted to the city limits and the city will lay the distributing system of pipes. Council referred the proposition to the Columbus water works commission.

Propositions were received from L. B. Clay, of Bartow, Ga., and C. F. Pekor, of this city, to bore artesian wells, and the city will probably have a number of test wells sunk.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For years he was troubled with Kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies: "I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for Liver and Kidney troubles and all forms of Stomach and Bowel Complaints. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all Druggists.

THUNDER STORM AT TIFTON.

Residence of Mr. Patrick Struck by Lightning.

Tifton, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—During yesterday afternoon's rain storm the residence of E. J. Padrick, on Park avenue, was struck by lightning and the family severely shocked. J. L. Padrick was reading in a room directly beneath the corner that was struck and was dazed for a few minutes. The building was slightly damaged. Eight of the city arc lights were burned out and three trees were struck in different parts of the city.

HELD EDUCATIONAL RALLY.

Enthusiastic Meeting Held in Putnam County.

Eatonton, Ga., September 9.—(Special.) A large and enthusiastic educational rally was held yesterday at Ramoth academy, in the southwestern part of this county. In a few timely remarks Hon. W. F. Jenkins, Jr., democratic nominee for representative from this county, introduced Rev. S. A. Harris, pastor of East Putnam circuit, who delivered a strong address on education.

School Commissioner Dennis next introduced Hon. H. R. DeJarnette, member of the county board of education, who delivered an interesting and extremely practical address of the same subject.

The three speeches were listened to with marked attention by the large audience. The burden of the three speeches was a strong appeal for the ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment looking to local taxation by counties and school districts for better schools. Dinner was served on the grounds. An interesting feature of the rally was the singing rendered by the vast audience.

FOUR CONTESTS CONCLUDED.

Skirmish Team Match Won by United States Marine Corps.

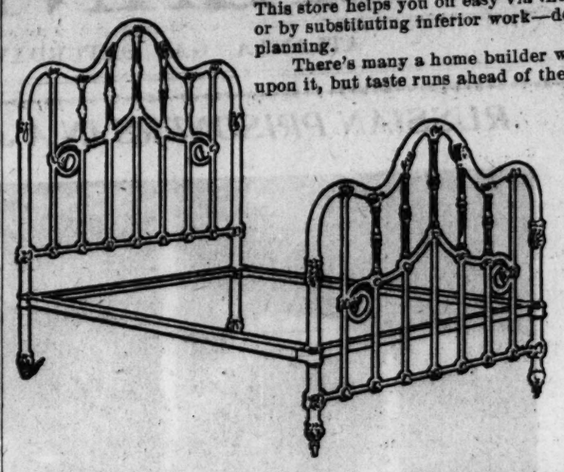

Sea Girt, N. J., September 9.—Four contests were concluded today at the joint international shooting tournament of the National Rifle Association of America and the New Jersey State Rifle Association and firing was continued in all the individual matches.

The skirmish team match was won by the United States marine corps, second team, with a total of 412.

The Seabury long range military rifle match was won by Lieutenant Tewes, of New Jersey, and the Tyro Company team match went to the first team of the second troop of New Jersey, whose total was 129 out of a possible 150.

Lieutenant K. K. V. Casey was awarded first prize in the Spencer match.

TO PRINT PRIVATE PAPERS OF M. WALDECK-ROSSEAU

PARIS, September 9.—The family of the late M. Waldeck-Rosseau has issued a statement to the effect that owing to controversies which have arisen since the death of the former premier concerning his change of convictions relative to the religious orders they propose to publish not in a spirit of controversy, but to establish the truth, his private papers demonstrating that during and after his ministry he remained invariably faithful to the same political doctrines.

WILLIAMS DIES ON SCAFFOLD

Negro Who Assaulted Young White Woman Last July.

Wheeling, W. Va., September 9.—George Williams, the Jefferson county negro, who waylaid and criminally assaulted Laura Knade, near Harper's Ferry several weeks ago, was hanged at the state prison in Moundsville, this evening at 5:18 p. m. Eleven minutes later life was pronounced extinct and the body was cut down and prepared for burial in the prison cemetery.

Williams never lost his nerve and went to the scaffold without a whimper, declaring to the last his innocence.

The crime was perhaps the most revolting in the criminal annals of the state. Laura Knade, a beautiful white girl, whose family is one of the most prominent of the eastern panhandle, left her home on a bright July morning, driving to Harper's Ferry to board a train for the world's fair. On the way Williams waylaid the girl and committed the assault.

The crime aroused the countryside to a man, and when the negro was captured public excitement became so great that the prisoner was taken over the border into Maryland. The excitement was allayed seemingly and Williams was taken to Charleston jail, but again mobs formed and the prisoner was hurriedly taken to Moundsville penitentiary to await trial.

Governor White called out the National Guard and, under its protection, Williams was taken back to Charleston and the trial held under military protection. The night before the trial the excitement culminated in the formation of the largest mob of all, and assaults were made on the jail, but the militia, under Colonel Simms, succeeded in overaweing the citizens and then followed the trial, which speedily resulted in a verdict of guilty and the sentence to hang at Moundsville September 9.

Inspecting Mail Routes.

Eatonton, Ga., September 9.—(Special.) Mail Rural Route Inspector A. J. Knight, of North Carolina, is here measuring accurately the different routes in the county. This step is made necessary by the fact that the mail carriers are paid under recent legislation according to the length of their routes. Several days will be required for this work.

Tifton High School.

Tifton, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—Fall term of Tifton High school opened Monday with appropriate exercises. Professor Scarboro and his able corps of assistants being met by 175 pupils, the number being increased to 180 during the day and before another week is expected to surpass over 200. No school in the town of less than 5,000 inhabitants in Georgia has a better or more representative faculty. Its personnel will compare favorably with that of many high priced and widely advertised schools and none have a more thorough course of instruction. The principal is highly pleased with the opening, the largest in the school's history, and anticipates a most successful term.

Jugs of the Ardent.

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—The United States marshal's office was filled this morning with that aroma which is dear to the nose of the man who tarries long at the wine cup. One side of the office was lined with brown jugs, black jugs, and jugs of every description, the one-time property of a certain dark-hued party, John Ritchie, presumably of African descent. The revenue officers flushed their game in Jones county this time, and Ritchie was bound over for trial this morning under a $150 bond on the charge of selling his neighbors, without Uncle Sam's knowledge, the tainted stuff that promotes a certain unsteady gait.

Will Have Class Games.

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—Though it was practically decided last year that Mercer would have no intercollegiate football games this coming season, it is thought much interest will be manifested in the class games, as the Mercer boys are usually very enthusiastic in their class rivalry.

Two Funerals at Macon.

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—The interment of Mrs. Carrie Jones, who died yesterday at her home in East Macon, took place this afternoon in the Fort Hill cemetery.

The funeral service of Mrs. Carrie L. Hysler was held at her residence on Wing's Hill, in south Macon, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The interment took place in the Fort Hill cemetery.

Return of the Boys' Band.

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—The boys' band of the Georgia Industrial home will return from their tour of the state tomorrow night. Besides clearing expenses, they have added $40 or more to the coffers of the institution during the short time they have been away.

One Was Judge's Nephew.

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—When Judge Hodges thought it best to turn over one of the cases on the city court docket this morning to Judge Clark of Forsyth, Ga., many did not know the reason for so doing. But when it was discovered that he did not wish his duty as judge of the city court to conflict with his relations with one of the young men to be tried, there were many favorable comments on his action. He stated that he felt disqualified to act as an unprejudiced judge of the law in that particular case, because Sam Edmondson, one of the young men charged with gambling, was his nephew. Judge Clark sentenced D. C. Wallace and Sam Edmondson, the nephew of Judge Hodges, $350 each or six months' imprisonment.

CASHIER WALTERS UNDER ARREST

Waynesboro Bank Cashier Said To Be $3,000 Short.

He Claims That There is a Mistake in the Books—There is No Run on the Bank and But Little Excitement.

Waynesboro, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—William H. Walters, cashier of the Bank of Waynesboro, has been put under arrest by the bank authorities for a shortage of about $3,000. Walters claims that there is no real shortage, but a mistake in bookkeeping. W. L. McElmurray has been elected cashier in Walters' place. The bank's books are in the hands of expert accountants. Major Wilkins, president of the bank, says the matter is in course of adjustment.

There is no run on the bank and little excitement over the matter.

H. C. STOCKDELL SPEAKS.

Addressed Voters of the Fourth Ward Last Night, Creating Great Enthusiasm.

H. C. Stockdell, candidate for mayor, spoke before his executive committee of the fourth ward last night at 485 Edgewood avenue. His speech consisted of a review of his public actions, which he compared to the records of his opponents.

The purpose of the meeting was to make arrangements for a meeting of his supporters of the fourth ward at Veterans' hall next Friday night. Dr. J. W. McMichael presided over the meeting last night.

Among the interesting statements by Mr. Stockdell was one to the effect that more than one-third of the registered voters had given him their voluntary support.

FOUND SNAKE IN THE STRAW.

Reptile Had Been Packed Up With Cask of Beer.

Valdosta, Ga., September 9.—(Special.) An employee of the Windsor saloon found a small ground rattlesnake in the straw packing inclosing a cask of beer which he opened a few days ago, and succeeded in capturing the reptile alive. The snake was found coiled up in the straw ready for fight, and gave the man a fright that rattled him considerably. It is a mystery how the snake got in the straw, unless it was shipped here with the beer.

Italian at Richmond Shoots Himself Through Head.

Richmond, Va., September 9.—John Rocchicioli, a well known Italian, committed suicide today by shooting himself through the head. He was lying dead on his bed with the photograph of a very handsome woman in his hand. He had previously caused a special delivery letter to be mailed to the woman in Philadelphia.

PUT TREASURER INSIDE HIS SAFE

Youthful Robbers Secured $14,000 in Cash at Pomeroy, Ohio.

Pomeroy, Ohio, September 9.—The boldest daylight robbery in the history of the county took place here today. Two youthful strangers entered the county treasurer's office covered Treasurer T. J. Chase with revolvers, and went through the safe. They secured $14,000, locked Mr. Chase in the vault and made their escape.

Mr. Chase was locked in nearly three hours before he was found and released by his wife. A local banker was secured to work the combination, and Mr. Chase directed him from the inside. Five thousand dollars in gold in the bottom of the safe was overlooked. No trace of the robbers has ben secured, although an attempt was made to trail them with bloodhounds. The robbery was planned with great foresight, as it was the last day of the county fair, and but few people were in town.

The county carries $10,000 insurance against robbery.

HELPED TO DEFEAT GRANT.

Death of Kirk Hawes Leading Anti-Term Man.

Chicago, September 9.—Judge Kirk Hawes has died suddenly at his summer hom in Les Cheneaux islands. For nearly forty years Judge Hawes had been a prominent figure in the law machinery of Chicago.

Kirk Hawes was born in Brookfield, Mass., January 5, 1839. He was a brother of Mrs. Mary J. Holmes, the author. In the presidential campaign of 1880 Mr. Hawes opposed the third term movement in favor of General Grant. He and Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll opposed the Grant movement at the Springfield state convention, were successful, and thereby had much to do with the result of the national convention.

What Is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly readjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at all Drug Stores.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Lightning Plays Havoc in a Valdosta Residence.

Valdosta, Ga., September 9.—(Special.) The family of J. M. Baskin, a prominent citizen of the Cat Creek neighborhood, in this county, had a miraculous escape from death by a lightning bolt on Tuesday afternoon. Lightning struck a chimney of the residence, passing down to the mantel, which was torn from the wall and scattered in pieces over the room. It smashed every pane of glass out of a window and tore the side rails from a bed on which Mr. Baskin was lying. Although several members of the family were in the room at the time, none of them were injured by the electric bolt, though they were more or less hurt by flying splinters and pieces of wood.

Two Deaths in Lowndes County.

Valdosta, Ga., September 9.—(Special.) Thomas Cain, a citizen of the Hahira district, and Maud, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asa King, of the same neighborhood, both died this week and were buried in an hour of each other at Fellowship burial ground on Wednesday. Mr. Cain had been an invalid for a long while, the result of wounds received in the civil war. The little girl's death was caused by typhoid fever.

Valdosta Bonds Taken.

Valdosta, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the city council today the bid of Seasongood & Meyer, of Cincinnati, for the issue of $20,000 paving and fire department bonds, at par, was accepted. The bonds bear 6 per cent interest, and the price paid is an indication of the city's good credit.

HANGMAN'S DAY IN ALABAMA

Three Murderers Executed in That State Yesterday.

Birmingham, Ala., September 9.—Larkin Johnson, colored, was hanged at Columbiana this afternoon for the murder of John Lawley, an old ex-confederate soldier, at Montevallo, a year ago. On the scaffold, Johnson confessed, saying he killed Lawley in the heat of passion. Johnson was hunting on Lawley's land and was ordered off by the owner. Johnson died of strangulation.

Tony Jones at Montgomery.

Montgomery, Ala., September 9.—Tony Jones, a negro, was hanged here today for the murder of Warren Jones, also a negro. He nearly collapsed when the black cap was placed on his head.

Andrew Burton at Anniston.

Nashville, September 9.—Andrew Burton was hanged at Anniston, Ala., today for the murder of William Richardson, over dice games. Burton died game.

THREE HURT IN AUTO CRASH.

Racing Machine Collided with Park Trap in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, September 9.—Three persons have been injured here in a collision between a large racing automobile and a Park trap. All probably will die. The accident occurred at Lang and Penn avenues.

The injured: C. G. Lawton, Miss Cora Murdoch, Miss Carrie Murdoch, all of Pittsburg.

The trap was overturned with the three victims underneath. Firemen from an engine house on the corner stopped the horse. The automobile is said to have belonged to an architect who is under indictment in connection with the death of a woman who was run down in Duquesne borough three months ago. He was not in the car when the collision with the Park trap occurred.

Bands of Gypsies Sent Home.

New York, September 9.—Seventy-five of the group of 200 gypsies from various Bohemian countries who have been held on Ellis island for about a week were sent on board the Cunard liner Campania today for deportation. The remaining 125 of the band will be deported as soon as the forty children sick with measles have recovered. The gypsies were ordered deported under the law which says that bands of roving gypsies are apt to become public charges. Large amounts of money which some of this party have does not enter into the question.

Murderer Killed in Wreck.

Columbus, Ohio, September 9.—It is discovered that William Henry, who was killed on the Big Four road near Marion, Ohio, December 13, 1901, and who lived under that name for several years, was really William H. Terley, an Illinois murderer. His mother, Mrs. Terley, of Vienna, Ills., visited his grave and admitted to Rev. J. A. Sutton, who preached the funeral sermon, that her son had killed a rival lover near Buncombe, Ills., eight years ago.

Tank Steamers for Germany.

Berlin, September 9.—The admiralty has ordered two new tank steamers to be built at Kiel. They are to supply petroleum, as fuel, to German warships. Oil as subsidiary fuel already has been used so successfully on battle ships that the government designs using it in larger quantities in the future.

Monseur de Paris Buried.

Paris, September 9.—The funeral of Louis Deibler, former public executioner of Paris, took place today. His son, Anatole, the present executioner, was chief mourner and was attended by two assistant executioners.

TREATY SIGNED WITH TIBETANS

Colonel Younghusband Completes Mission and Is Ready To Return.

L'Hassa, September 7, via Gyangtse, September 9.—Colonel Younghusband, head of the British mission and the Tibetan officials, signed a formal treaty today in the apartments of the Delai Lama, at Potala.

The ceremony was simple and was conducted amid quaint and picturesque surroundings. The terms of the treaty were read out only in the Tibetan language, and its details will be published later by the foreign office at Simla. The proceedings closed with a short speech by Colonel Younghusband.

The Delai Lama is now supposed to be well on his way into Mongolia, and the officials insist that his action amounts to abdication. The administration is now carried on by a council of regency. It is believed that the Tashi Lama will eventually be recognized as the supreme religious head.

The arrangements for the return of the British mission are complete.

Chinese Would as Soon Go Back to China as Not.

Valdosta, Ga. September 9. (Special.)—John Lee, alias Jung Lung, a Chinese from Waycross, was brought here today and given a commitment hearing on the charge of violating the Chinese exclusion act. Jung Ling said he was 8 years old when he came to this country and was now 24 years old. He was sent to jail at Savannah, pending a hearing before Judge Speer. He admitted that he had no certificate and intimated that he did not want one and also that he would as soon go back to China as not.

Will Leave for Bogota.

Washington, September 9.—W. W. Russell, the American minister to Bogota, who has been in this country ever since he relinquished the post of secretary of legation of Panama several months ago, called upon Acting Secretary Loomis, of the state department, today to discuss his mission to Colombia. Mr. Snider, the American charge at Bogota, has been maintaining friendly relations with the government there and it is expected when Russell takes up his residence at the Colombian capital he will be welcomed.

Cortelyou Meets Westerners.

Chicago, September 9.—Chairman Cortelyou has arranged to meet the republican chairmen of a number of western states at the Auditorium headquarters next week. The purpose of the conference is to get at first hand evidence of the political situation in states where the democracy is active for guidance during the last two months of the campaign.

Mexican Legation for China.

Pekin, September 9.—Mexico will shortly establish a legation at Pekin. Don Carlos Leora, now Mexican minister to Japan, will also be minister to China. The charges in the affairs here during Lucas' absence will be Don Mario Wolheim, secretary of the legation, who has already arrived in this city. The establishment of a Mexican legation here is not connected with any special object, but is for general purposes, mainly to promote mercantile agencies.

REFUSE ADDICKS' OFFER.

Regular Delaware Republicans Decline to Consider Peace.

Wilmington, Del., September 9.—The regular republican state committee held a meeting here today and authorized United States Senator Hall, state chairman, to send a reply to United States Senator Alee, chairman of the union republican state committee, virtually refusing the proffer of the Addicks faction for harmony and the consequent reelection of one republican state ticket.

CORONER RENDERS VERDICT.

In Investigation as to Cause of Epps' Death.

Tallahassee, Fla., September 9.—(Special.)—An adjourned session of the coroner's jury empaneled last Sunday in the case of Hon. N. W. Eppes, murdered on the night of September 3, was held at Centerville today. The verdict was that Edwards was guilty of murder in the first degree with Larkins and Caldwell as accessories. Everybody and everything continues quiet and are likely to remain so. There will be no trial until circuit court convenes in regular session, the last week in November.

World's Fair Ticket Company Broke.

Boston, September 9.—The New System Ticket Company, a New Jersey corporation to which was awarded the contract for printing the tickets used by the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis, has assigned.

Bishop Walden Hurt in Runaway.

Cincinnati, September 9.—Bishop J. M. Walden, retired, of the Methodist church, and his wife were seriously hurt in a runaway today. Mrs. Walden's arm was broken and the bishop was badly bruised. Both were taken to the hospital.

Why

Don't you give your heart the same chance you do the other organs?

Why? Because when any other organ is in trouble, it refuses to work, and you hasten to repair it.

The heart, the ever faithful servant, never refuses as long as it has power to move, but continues to do the best it can, getting weaker and weaker, until it is past repair, and then stops. It is just as sick as the other organs, but because it will work you let it.

However, it's not too late for a "change of heart," so remember

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

will give your heart strength and vitality to overcome Dizziness, Palpitation, Short Breath, Faint Spells, Pains in Heart and Side, and all other Heart aches and difficulties.

"My heart would ache and palpitate terribly, and at times I could hardly breathe. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has restored me to perfect health, and I am very grateful."

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATING

Will Indict Lynchers If There Is Sufficient Evidence.

Huntsville, Ala., September 9.—(Special.)—Investigation of the lynching of the negro, Horace Maples, was begun today by the special grand jury. The grand jury is one of the best ever assembled, being composed of business men, farmers, a preacher, an editor, a doctor, a lawyer, and a city alderman. Dozens of witnesses have been summoned. There is no question that all parties taking part in the lynching will be indicted, if there is enough evidence.

Public sentiment has been aroused to high pitch by the lynching. A public meeting will be held to pass resolutions condemning the lawless acts just perpetrated and a committee will be appointed to take steps for the organization of a large committee on public safety, the object being to encourage the officers of the law in the discharge of their duties.

A mass meeting of several hundred citizens was held tonight and the action of Wednesday's mob condemned. A resolution was adopted requesting the county commissioner to purchase seventy-five riot guns and ammunition to be in charge of the sheriff and calling upon all good citizens to aid the sheriff in upholding the law.

MORE QUIET DOWN AT PAVO

Whites Still on Guard To Prevent Any Further Trouble.

Moultrie, Ga., September 9. (Special.)—The anticipated trouble with the negro lodge men at Pavo has failed to materialize. It is believed that all danger is passed and excitement is subsiding. The whites are still on guard but negroes, as a rule, went to their work this morning. Dr. Frank Harris, a conservative citizen, was talked with this afternoon over the 'phone and said he looked for no trouble. He thinks the excitement developed on rumor and supposition not well founded.

The lodge was burned, rumors of threats were received and white citizens armed themselves, keeping guard at night, but he denies many sensational rumors of negro mobs, shooting by whites demands for military aid etc. which have been current here.

To Send Torpedo Boats East.

Washington, September 9.—The proposition to send to the Asiatic station a torpedo boat flotilla as an adjunction to the flotilla of destroyers sent out in the spring is under consideration at the navy department. It is probable they will be sent eventually. Lieutenant Commander Lloyd Chandler, who has been sent to Japan to study torpedo boat development, has advised the department of his arrival in this country and will come to Washington to report.

To Resight Battleship Guns.

Washington, September 9.—While the battle ships of the north Atlantic fleet are in dock this month it is hoped the work of resighting their guns may be begun. The bureau of ordnance had asked for bids from three or four hundred 3-inch sights. The sights for the larger guns have not yet been made.

Chinese Legation Opened.

Washington, September 9.—Sir Chen-Tung Liang-Teng has returned to Washington for the season and opened the Chinese legation. He came early in order to attend the geographical congress.

Dragged to Death.

Abbeville, Ala., September 9. (Special.)—W. J. G. Mouring, a well known farmer, was killed here yesterday in a horrible way. He fell from his wagon, as his mules were running away, and was caught in a wheel and dragged to death.

HOPKINS STILL HEADS COMMAND

Denies Report That Regular Officer Superseded Him.

Georgia Troops Fought Georgia Troops Yesterday—Atlanta Boys Figured Prominently Against Alabama Brigade and Succeeding in Getting Best of It.

Washington, September 3. (Special)—An Atlanta paper in a recent issue stated that Lieutenant Colonel Hopkins, of the First Provisional Georgia regiment, had been removed from command and that a regular army officer had been placed in command. Colonel Hopkins denies this report and states that he is still in command, and has been in his saddle at the head of his command during all of the maneuvers.

The war maneuvers ended with today's battle. In an engagement near Stone Bridge this morning, Georgia boys fought against Georgia boys. The Atlanta and Savannah militia, who formed a part of the brown's, fought their fellow soldiers, the First Provisional regiment, and caused them to retreat hastily towards Manassas.

The Atlanta militia gave the Alabama boys a close range fight and overpowered them, the umpire deciding in favor of the browns.

The correspondent of The Constitution was captured by the browns last night 3 miles west of Stone house, being mistaken for a blue spy, and was detained all night under heavy guard. The press pass was lost on the march out to the field and it was impossible to establish his identity until this morning early.

The Georga boys of both blues and browns played prominent parts in today's battles The Atlanta boys were paid a high compliment by Adjutant General Brandon, of Alabama, who stated that the Atlanta militia caused his regiment to retreat this morning and that their movements were par excellence.

Camp will break Sunday morning.

Two Armies Broke Even.

The second maneuver problem ceased at 9 o'clock today, with General Bell, commanding the Brown army, demolishing General Grant, commanding the Blue army, east of Bull Run. This result awards victory to the attacking force in each of the two problems and makes General Grant the first victor and General Bell the second, so far as death can be estimated without bullets.

The maneuvering and fighting today was far the most specturlar and exciting of the campaign. The first day of the second problem had developed nothing but a rear guard action on the part of General Grant, while General Bell had spent his time endeavoring to make a demonstration on the left wing or to the south of the Blue line. During the night the situation was changed. General Grant's main position remained the same behind, or to the east of Bull Run.

He withdrew his first brigade under General Wint, who had fought the rear guard action the day before, to the famous stone bridge across Bull Run, along whose eastern shores the trenches dug by the federal troops still remain, and in which General Grant posted General Wint's line after it had been driven across the bridge with the loss of one brigade.

General Bell executed a magnificent march with the forces which the day before were on the left wing of his enemy. He threw them during the small hours of the night from the left to the right of Grant's position. When daylight came they were put across Bull Run at Sudley or to the extreme north of the maneuver scene.

In the meantime, the force which had crossed to the north at Sudley had been coming down toward the pike. They struck Grant's line to the rear, and the maneuver ended when this force appeared in a flanking movement on a blue line which was facing a brown line that had crossed at the stone bridge. In summing up the situation tonight, Colonel Wagner, chief umpire, gave the precise movement of each brigade during the night, after which he commented on the maneuver as follows:

Chief Umpire's Statement.

"The Blue cavalry accomplished nothing during the day, General Bell having taken the precaution to change his base. Among the Blue regiments that lost most heavily in constructive killed or captured were the First South Carolina, the Alabama and the Florida regiments, all in the Blue army. The withdrawal of General Grant to a defensive position east of Bull Run was effected very skilfully, the handling of the rear guard by General Wint being especially fine.

"General Bell's plan of action was an able one. Menacing the left flank of the Blue he had a long prompt night march by which he placed himself on the enemy's right flank in a way that promised brilliant results. What the result would have been in actual warfare it is impossible to say. The Blue right was badly shattered, but Price's brigade was still intact and immediately available for support.

"Reinforcements could have been drawn from the brigade of Frost. Whether the frontal attack across Bull Run would have been sufficient to hold these two brigades in check, or whether the brigades in question would themselves have been carried away in the general rush, it is idle to speculate."

In relinquishing command of the maneuver force, General Corbin issued a general order tonight expressing his approval of the work done by each commander and the force under him. The militia will be paid tomorrow after the review, which is to be held at Wellington at 1 o'clock.

After the review eight thousand of the eastern militia will be entrained and started for home. The Southern railway will run as many special trains as necessary from Washington to Wellington tomorrow, as great crowds are expected to witness the review of both the Blue and Brown forces.

THEATERS.

Tim Murphy, Miss Dorothy Sherrod and a coterie of clever players presented "Two Men and a Girl" at the Grand last night. If this attraction and its cast had come at the height of the season, there still would have been nothing to do but grow enthusiastic. Coming, as it does, when the season is still young—why, it was simply delightful, and if the Grand isn't crowded for two performances today, it's because the people are afraid it is too early in the game to find anything worth while.

The play itself is filled with spirited lines, dramatic little social climaxes, new gowns, and fairly scintilating with humor and heart interest—the kind that appeals to the very best there is, even in those who are inclined to be pessimistic and blase. And there are trite epigrams—lots of them that creep in when you are not looking and surprise you into the best of good feeling for the world, the people who live in it and even yourself. There is no problem involved but the strength of true friendship, pure love and the portrayal of a character that is in itself a helpful lesson.

As for the players, Mr. Murphy was quite at his best, with suggestions of dear old Sol Smith Russell, and little Miss Sherrod—she isn't quite as little as she used to be—but she is the same finished and accomplished actress that has won so many hearts among theatergoers. But one scene interfered with the artistic touches that were the chief grace and charm of the production. This was a very melo-dramatic climax for the curtain of the second act that was entirely out of place and jarred terribly. But there was so much else that was simply fascinating that one soon forgot this single intrusion.

The entire cast was one of those evenly balanced combinations that left room only for compliment rather than unpleasant criticism. Miss Louise Whitfield was in rather a minor role, but she was so pretty, so piquant and such a clever little actress withal, that predictions were made on every side of her coming again to Atlanta one of these days with her own name at the head of the cast and on the posters. Miss Gertrude Dalton was entirely satisfactory as an actress and a beauty in the bargain. Olney Griffin, as the old valet, was another delightful surprise as an artist in a minor role. Walter Pennington, Robert Ober and Macey Harlum—barring his "Drewisms"—helped in making the performance one of genuine pleasure from first to last. The bill will be repeated this afternoon and "When a Man Marries" at night. The manager kept his name off the programme just when everyone wanted to give him the credit that was due.

ALAN ROGERS.

Today the first week of the Bijou season comes to an end. "A Midnight Marriage" has drawn hundreds of theatergoers to the popular theater. It is a melodrama—one can well expect that by a glance at the play bills—and it is one of the best of its class.

The play has attracted a great deal of attention; much has been said about it; the attendance has been exceedingly large, and there has been no adverse criticism.

"Alone in the World," the new Hal Reid play, will have its initial hearing in this city at the Bijou next week and the Mittenthal brothers, the producing managers, promise some new and striking scenic effects. The play depicts virtue and villainy and tells a story concerning the life of a young boy who is without a home and trying to make his way in the world. The piece has startling climaxes, pathos and is not without comedy.

"Did you ever notice," remarked Charles H. Yale, manager for Al H. Wilson, now starring in Sidney Ellis' romantic comedy, "The Watch on the Rhine," "that most actors and actresses of prominence have pets? Of course their favorite animals are horses and dogs, some have parrots and birds of various kinds and some actors have and see snakes.

"Mr. Wilson when resting at his summer home near Niagara Falls has for his constant companions a fine pair of white Arabian steeds and a diminutive pink mule. They were presented to Mr. Wilson by James A. Bailey, the celebrated circus proprietor."

Al Wilson will be seen Tuesday and Wednesday nights with matinee Wednesday at the Grand.

Mason and Mason, who in former years have proved to be a whole show in themselves, will this season again appear in a clever comedy under the title of "Fritz and Snitz" and in which their managers have surrounded them with forty clever people. The piece possesses much that is praiseworthy. It depends for its developments upon the doings of Fritz and Snitz, two characters who meander into a watering resort and are mistaken for a German nobleman. They contrive to make the swagger set believe that one of them is a man of title and raise all sorts of complications by their blunderings.

Off at East St. Louis.

East St. Louis, Ills., September 9.—The butchers' strike was declared off today at a mass meeting attended by 1,000 of the 3,000 packing house employees who went out eight weeks ago.

HE SPIRITED PRISONER AWAY

Decatur County Sheriff and Judge Spence Outwit Would-be Lynchers.

Bainbridge, Ga., September 9.—(Special.) This morning about 9 o'clock Sheriff Fordham received a telegram from Judge Spence, of Camilla, telling him to order out the military company and have it ready at a moment's notice to protect Whitley Williford, a negro, who has recently been lodged in the jail in this city and no suspicion has been aroused county were on their way to Bainbridge to get him.

Sheriff Fordham immediately notified Lieutenant Gremmer, and in a short while he had a detail stationed around the jail.

When the southbound train of the Georgia, Florida and Alabama railway arrived the negro was taken on board and carried by the sheriff to Tallahassee, where, it is understood, they will come up into Georgia again tonight.

About a year ago Williford killed W. B. West, of Camilla, and seriously wounded Turner Cox, while they were attempting to arrest him.

At that time there was a reward of $250 out for the negro and the two gentlement were attempting to arrest Williford and get the reward.

Williford was arrested last week near Sneads, Fla., and brought to this city, having been at large nearly a year. When the negro was taken out of the city, the military company disbanded and everything has been quiet since.

There has been no mob to enter the city and no ssupicion has been aroused against any strange men coming into town. It is supposed the mob disbanded before reaching here.

SHORT ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

DETECTIVE WHITE YESTERDAY afternoon took a gold belt and buckle and a gold ring from a negro on Decatur street. He believes the articles were stolen.

MRS. A. H. MORSE, AGED 78, DIED yesterday at the residence of her son, John Morse, 56 Stonewall street. She had been living with her son three years. She is survived by two sons, John Morse, of Atlanta, and William B. Morse, of Litchfield, Conn. The body will be taken to Litchfield Saturday night.

C. N. KING, OF LITHONIA, WAS cut on the left hand last night about 8 o'clock by J. T. Hicks. The fight occurred in a Decatur street saloon. Both men were arrested. Another cutting scrape occurred at the corner of Mitchell and Broad streets, in which A. S. Barnes, a young white man, and a negro were the participants. Barnes was arrested.

GARDEN GOOLSBY, A NEGRO, WAS found sleeping early yesterday morning in the rear of a store on Decatur street by Officers Barfield and Starnes. On one side Goolsby was found a box containing several packages of cigarettes, several cigars and bags of tobacco, a pistol, a razor and a cigar case. On the other side of the sleeping man were found three bottles of rye whisky. Goolsby was sent to police headquarters and will be tried before Judge Broyles.

CHIEF BALL RECEIVED A TELEgram yesterday afternoon from Mrs. J. K. Griffin, of Fitzgerald, asking that the policed epartment notify her son, Edward Griffin, of the death of his father. Young Griffin left Fitzgerald Tuesday for Atlanta, and his mother does not know where he is.

CHARLES HAMILTON, THE YOUNG man who deserted from the United States navy and who intended to return yesterday, is still at the police barracks upon the advice of his counsel, Mr. Daley. Young Hamilton intended leaving for Norfolk, Va. Congressman Livingston will be asked to intercede for the young man.

BY REQUEST OF CHIEF BALL, W. T. Morris, a policeman, who was shot about ten days ago by Charlie Dunlap, a negro servant at the home of J. W. Robinson, on West Peachtree street, was placed in a private room at Grady hospital yesterday morning in order that the officer may receive better attention.

MACKS LIMAN, A NEGRO CHARGED with assaulting Editor Burnett, of The Atlanta Age, was fined $25.7' yesterday afternoon by Judge Calhoun.

ANNIE MOXIE, ALIAS LENA Workman, the young white woman who was arrested Thursday night on Decatur street, while dressed in male attire, together with Ed Royal, were fined $10.75 each yesterday afternoon before Recorder Broyles on a charge of disorderly conduct.

OFFICERS JONES AND LINDSAY had a chase after a mad dog yesterday morning. The officers were called to 92 Merritts avenue. About 250 negroes and children who were armed with sticks and rocks and other implements joined in the chase. The dog took a run through the vicinity of Merritts avenue, Harris and Fourth streets, and was at last cornered under a negro church on Chamberlain Boulevard. There he was killed.

CHARGED WITH STABBING W. R. Sullivan, his guest, W. L. Ledford was bound over yesterday morning by Judge Broyles. Sullivan stated to the court that on the night of the stabbing he and Ledford had been drinking. After awhile, he said, he went out on the veranda to take a nap. Awakening suddenly he found he had been stabbed. He says he saw Ledford running away. Ledford says the accident was the result of a broken whisky flask, upon which Sullivan fell.

GOLF TOURNEY ENDS TODAY.

Chandler Egan and Herreshoff Will Fight for Championship.

Short Hills, N. J., September 9.—With Walter J. Travis dethroned as the champion of American golfers the honor of succeeding him is to be decided tomorrow on the Baltusrol Club's links.

Either H. Chandler Egan, of the Exmoor Country Club of Chicago, or Frederick Herreshoff, of the Ekwanok Country Club of Manchester, Vt., will be the new champion, as these two are the survivors of a field of 133 men who started in the annual tournament last Tuesday.

In today's play Herreshoff beat George A. Ormiston, of Pittsburg, and W. T. West of Camden; Egan beat Arthur Havemeyer and Dr. D. P. Fredericks, of Oil City.

FOUR ARE KILLED AND 35 WOUNDED

disconnected. He gave the following details:

President Barr's Statement.

"Train No. 41 was in charge of Conductor Richard West and Engineer Gaston Mears. The wreck occurred about 1 o'clock this morning at the trestle just south of Catawba river, South Carolina, and 22 miles southwest of Monroe, S. C. The engine passed over the trestle and went down the embankment, killing the colored fireman, Ed Roberts, and seriously injuring Engineer Gaston Mears.

"A light engine and caboose, running as No. 19, in charge of Conductor Chapman and Engineer E. Y. Barksdale, which train was passed by No. 41 a short distance east of the point where the accident occurred, ran into the damaged trestle and on top of the passenger train, resulting in the death of the engineer of No. 19, the fireman of the passenger train and of Mrs. Black and an unknown lady passenger.

"Two Pullman employees, six railway employees, one mail clerk, one Southern Express Company employee and twenty-three passengers were injured."

Running 40 Miles an Hour.

Charlotte, N. C., September 9.—The wrecked train was running about 40 miles an hour when the trestle, which is about 300 feet long, spanning a meadow near the Catawba river, gave way. The engine and cars passed over, but were drawn backward into the abyss and upon the other cars, a light engine and caboose piling in on top of the train of wreckage before it could be flagged.

Gaston Meares, the engineer of the passenger train, escaped with some bruises and a painful scalp wound. How he escaped death is beyond his own or any one else's comprehension. He said that he was driving at the rate of 40 miles an hour as he crossed the bridge. Just before the engine had swept entirely clear of the structure, he felt it sinking, but the impetus carried the engine and cars across except the first-class passenger car and the Pullman, clear of the yawning gulf which was left when half the bridge collapsed, but the engine and cars were swerved from their course to the right, tearing the rail loose from its fastenings and hurling the entire train upside down over an embankment to the meadow, about 30 feet below.

All Lights Went Out.

A scene horrible beyond description ensued. The accounts of the survivors are terrible. When the train went crashing over the embankment, every light went out, passengers were thrown heads over heels against the sides of the coaches, bleeding and bruised. A natural panic took them. Some were rendered unconscious for a moment. Mrs. Black, sitting with her husband, gave a short cry, and when he managed to strike a match and find her body, he discovered that she was dead, her neck having been broken.

As the scrambling and shouting went on in the dark, above the noises, a brakeman, with his head half way out a window, was heard to shout:

"My God! The freight train is coming upon us!"

In less than a minute the freight, which had left Monroe fifteen minutes behind the passenger, came whizzing along the tracks, struck the open space where the bridge had fallen and plunged its way through the passenger cars. The woman whose identity could not be discovered then met her death, the freight engine having crashed through the side of that passenger car in which she was and crushing her body into a shapeless mass. The engineer of the freight train must have met his death instantly. He was found in the cab of the overturned engine with his head crushed, but few bruises upon his body. When his body was dug out of the debris this morning his watch was still running on time. His fireman escaped with a few minor injuries.

Wreck Developed Hero.

The wreck developed at least one hero. Mr. Black, whose wife was killed beside him, was the last man to leave the coaches, and what he did the very first thing was to walk, with all his bruised condition, to Catawba Junction, 2 miles away, get into the telegraph office and send to Monroe for help. He is a telegraph operator in the service of the Norfolk and Western railroad and was going to Atlanta with his wife to testify there in a railroad suit. He hardly really realizes the blow he has sustained and sat all day on a bank near by with mournful eyes and muttering to himself:

"My God! what an ordeal for a man to bear."

The mass of wreckage of the two trains is like a huge heap of junk. Railroad men said today that they had never seen such a complete demolishment of engines and coaches. They are lying heaped and crushed together. Looking at the conglomeration, people wonder that any one escaped. The wrecking crew from the Seaboard shops at Abbeville, S. C., arrived about 10 o'clock this morning and began to clear away the debris. It will take days to get the line in passable condition, although the trains are scattered to the side of the tracks and in the ravine into which the bridge fell.

Spikes and Bolts Removed.

George S. Fitzwater, chief detective of the Seaboard Air Line, arrived on the scene early in the morning and took charge of the situation until organized help arrived. He said this afternoon that he found some spikes and bolts and two angle bars which had been removed from the track with claw bars, and he said he was confident that dirty work had been done. Mr. Fitzwater sent a telegram to Superintendent E. Berkeley, at Atlanta, telling him that he had discovered evidence of malice in this work, and expressed his belief that some one had disconnected the joints in the lower half of the bridge.

The stretch of track in that vicinity is a clear, straight and apparently well-built one. The timbers of the bridge appear to have been wrenched from their fastenings, and those that are splintered are of sound wood. There was nothing to suggest that the foundations of the structure was undermined by a washout, although the ground was somewhat marshy yesterday.

The dead bodies were all taken from the wreck about half past 10 o'clock. The woman who was so badly mutilated wore a simple gold ring, with the inscription "From Tom to Anna, October 20, 1885," inside. She was probably 32 years old, medium sized, with dark auburn hair. She had a purse containing $2.45, a return trip ticket from Wilmington, N. C., to Atlanta, and a baggage check No. 603,598.

C. S. Coleman, of Bon Air, Va., said he was the only man in the smoking car when the train was hurled over the embankment, and he heard lots of shouting from the other coaches. In a very few minutes he said the freight train crashed into them, and then silence settled over the scene for several minutes, when the groans of the wounded as they began to regain consciousness peirced the night air.

Souvenir of The Great World's Fair

In twelve more weeks the great Exposition now in progress in St. Louis will pass into history.

Fortunately the art preservative of all arts has been evoked to perpetuate the great Event.

It has been photographed in its vast detail and described by the facile pen of the Secretary of the Exposition, distinguished throughout America as a brilliant descriptive writer.

MR. WALTER B. STEVENS

The camera, the pencil, the engraver's and printer's art, have reproduced the Fair and put it on paper for permanent preservation in most artistic form.

If you have visited the Fair you will want it and order it without asking. If you have not been to the Fair you ought not to miss this series of pictures of it.

The Fittest, Most Enduring, Most Beautiful, Memento of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition

THE ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR is conceded to be the greatest Exposition that mankind has ever seen. Practically every product of the earth is there.

The processes as well as the products of the nations are there represented.

All humankind from the highest civilization to the lowest savage are assembled in St. Louis' beautiful Forest Park.

An assembled world in product, process and people will soon have performed its mission and have passed into history as a sublime international achievement, but all its best features will have been transferred in enduring form to the printed page in that superb series

OFFICER STEVE TERRY ILL.

Well Known Policeman Becomes Ill on His Beat and is Taken Home.

While patroling his beat at Oakland cemetery last night about 8 o'clock, Officer Steve Terry became ill and had to be carried to his home on Randolph street.

It is thought that the officer is affected with either a stroke of paralysis or vertigo. He has not been in the best of health for some time, and is also advancing in age.

Officer Cason went to the cemetery. Mr. Terry was put into a hack and sent home, accompanied by Officer McCarley.

GREAT REVIVAL HERE THIS FALL

All Evangelistic Denominations in Atlanta Will Combine.

Ministers and Business Men Met Last Night in Carnegie Library, Divided City Into Districts and Made Other Arrangements for Revival.

A number of ministers and business men met at the Carnegie library last evening at the request of ex-Governor W. J. Northen, chairman of the Business Men's Gospel Union. This organization was the result of the conference of business men and pastors some weeks ago. The need of a great revival was felt.

The meeting was called last evening to receive the report of the provisional committee that has been arranging the preliminary details of an evangelistic campaign during the month of October. Every evangelical denomination in the city was represented.

Dr. Marion Hull, chairman of the devotional committee, reported that Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D.D., of New York city, will come in October and take charge of the campaign in Atlanta. It was suggested that the city be divided into nine districts, and that during the month of October simultaneous meetings be held in all these districts, afternoons and evenings, while at noon each day a central meeting for Christian workers would be held for conference and prayer. This plan was enthusiastically adopted.

An office will be opened in a few days, from which the necessary correspondence of such an undertaking will be carried on; and it will be in charge of an experienced leader to be sent here by Dr. Chapman for the purpose.

About October 1 Dr. Chapman will send out as many evangelists as are needed to man the districts, and he will arrive a little later and preach three times a day, going from one district to another. These helpers are among the soundest and most successful evangelists in America. Churches that have already made arrangements for fall meetings will be associated with the movement, their evangelists becoming helpers in the general campaign.

The proposed districts, with the consent of the churches named, will be as follows:

Capitol District—Central Presbyterian, Second Baptist, St. Philip Cathedral, English Lutheran, First Christian, St. Paul Methodist, Emmanuel Baptist, St. Luke Methodist, Woodward Avenue Baptist.

Whitehall Street District—Trinity Methodist, Associate Reformed Presbyterian, Central Baptist, German Lutheran.

Walker Street District—Walker Street Methodist, Wallace Presbyterian, McDonald Baptist, Temple Baptist, Asbury Methodist, Jones Avenue Baptist, Western Heights Methodist.

West End District—West End Baptist, West End Presbyterian, West End Methodist, West End Christian, West End Episcopalian, Emmanuel Congregational.

Boulevard District—Grace Methodist, Westminster Presbyterian, Jackson Hill Baptist, Inman Park Presbyterian, Inman Park Methodist, Edgewood Avenue Baptist, Fourth Presbyterian.

North Central District—First Presbyterian, First Baptist, Central Congregational, St. Luke Episcopalian, Marietta Street Methodist, Cumberland Presbyterian, Wesley Memorial Methodist.

Luckie Street District—Tabernacle Baptist, Moore Memorial Presbyterian, Payne Memorial Methodist, St. James Methodist Episcopal, Episcopalian Mission (Pine street), Barnett Presbyterian mission, Marietta Street Congregational, Brown Memorial Baptist, North Atlanta Baptist, Ponders Avenue Baptist, Exposition Mills mission.

North Atlanta District—St. Mark Methodist, North Avenue Presbyterian, First Methodist, All Saints Episcopalian.

South Atlanta District—Georgia Avenue Presbyterian, Capitol Avenue Baptist, St. John Methodist, Glenn Street Baptist, Pryor Street Presbyterian, Nellie Dodd Memorial Methodist.

The officers of the union are ex-Governor W. J. Northen, president; W. H. Patterson, vice president; E. C. Callaway, vice president; J. B. Campbell, treasurer; J. M. Johnson, secretary; W. S. Wilburn, chairman finance committee; Marion Hull, chairman devotional committee.

The keynote of the campaign is to be the three Rs of Christianity—Ruin of man by sin; Redemption through Christ, and Regeneration by the Holy Spirit.

Special excursion rates to Austin, Tex., from all points Sept. 11 and 12, return limit September 30. Quickest and best route is via New Orleans and the Southern Pacific. Official route to the National Baptist Convention.

FINALS IN TENNIS TOURNEY.

Miss McAteer and Miss Weimer Won Out in Doubles.

Cincinnati, September 9.—The finals in the ladies' doubles and men's doubles were played at the Tri-State Tennis tournament here today. In the ladies' doubles Miss M. McAteer, of Pittsburg, and Miss M. Weimer, of Washington, defeated Miss W. Closterman and Miss C. Neely, 6—2, 6—4.

L. D. Little and Robert Leroy, of New York, easily won from Beals Wright and Edgar Leonard, of Boston, in the finals for the men's doubles, 6—2, 6—2, 6—4.

Owing to the illness of Kreigh Collins, of Chicago, the present holder of the governor's cup, Beals Wright, of Boston, and L. H. Waidner, of Chicago, will compete for the cup tomorrow. Miss McAteeer and Miss Closterman are the contestants in the ladies' finals.

LOOTED CHURCH SAYS THE PASTOR

Seventh Day Adventist Preacher Makes Charges.

Says Certain Members of His Flock Broke Into Church and Stole the Pulpit, the Organ and Other Articles Therefrom.

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—Quite a sensational story has leaked out here in connection with the Seventh Day Adventists, a religious sect which holds Saturday as the Sabbath day. Rev. Mr. McMillan, the pastor of the Macon Seventh Day Adventists until the split in his congregation a month or so ago, claims that certain members of his flock have strayed far from the paths of righteousness and are guilty of burglary.

The church of the Seventh Day Adventists is located on Elm street, and until he changed his residence, some time ago, Mr. McMillan's parsonage was in connection with the church. As services have not been held in the church lately, the doors and windows have been barred. Mr. McMillan claims that a day or so ago certain black sheep of his flock, who went their way to another fold several months ago, broke into the church and disturbed the sanctity thereof. He says the parties were not satisfied with taking the sacred things they found, including one pulpit, one church organ, numerous benhes and such miscellaneous articles of value as a church usually offers as an inducement to burglars, but that they also carried off with them such household articles as their one-time pastor needed in his business.

When the matter was brought to the notice of the police authorities yesterday it was said that the parties who were guilty of the depredation were residents of South Macon. As this was said to b beyond the police force's jurisdiction the discovery of the alleged burglars and stolen property was to be left in the hands of the county authorities. Though it is thought Rev. Mr. McMillan would willingly have passed the burglary by, if his pulpit and other sacred things had been all that was stolen, as it is said he is very anxious to promote the teachings of his faith, but the waywardness of certain members of his flock where his household goods were concerned is said to have touched a tender spot and he has appealed to the authorities to rectify the matter.

NO ACTION WAS TAKEN.

Residents of Fifth Ward Did Not Turn Out for Meeting.

The meeting in the court room of Judge Puckett on Marietta street last night, which was supposed to have been called for the purpose of deciding upon the advisability of holding a ward primary in the fifth ward, was turned, it is said by those who attended, into a meeting that had as its object the defeat of Captain W. W. Draper and the election of Oscar Starnes to the general council.

The meeting adjourned without taking any action, with the exception that it was decided to wage an active campaign against Captain Draper.

The latter was invited to the meeting last night, but did not go. His friends declare that he remaine daway because of the belief that those who had arranged for the meeting have been opposing him in his race.

The meeting last night is said to have been poorly attended.

"STANDARD OIL" APPLES FREE.

(From The New York Tribune.)

"Mamma Mamma"

"Well, what do you want now?"

"They's a worm in it!"

"Well, throw it away!"

"I can't; I swallowed it"

That dialogue took place the other morning on the estate of John D. Rockefeller, at Pocantico Hills, Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson. The child was one of the Tarrytown children who are now stuffing themselves with the Rockefeller apples, by kind permission of the wife of the Standard Oil man.

Indeed, on fair days the roads leading into Tarrytown from the direction of the Pocantico Hills seems to be alive with barefooted, dust-covered children bearing apples in hats, in aprons, in paper bags, in market baskets and squeaking carts. But the apple gathering is by no means exclusively confined to the children. In the warm afternoons many Italian women patronize the Rockefeller orchards. They go early and stagger back under great loads of fruit. One woman wheels her baby out daily in the baby carriage and brings the baby back on her arm, pushing the cart, loaded with apples, with the other hand.

The poor of the community are not interfered with in the gathering of the apples by the employees on the estate. Of course, no printed invitations were sent out to come and gather apples, but the people have been led to understand that so long as they take only those which have fallen from the trees they are welcome to carry home all they can gather. And the poor of Tarrytown are not the only ones to avail themselves of the opportunity. Persons driving through the estate stop and fill their carriage bottoms with the fruit.

Superintendent C. V. Hemenway, who has charge of the estate, says that so long as the fruit is not picked from the trees the Tarrytown people are welcome to it.

"But," Mr. Hemenway adds, in a manner, evidently born of experience, "guess they'd get 'em anyway. It would cost more to patrol the place than the apples are worth. We don't bother with the apples that fall off the trees. Last year was a good apple year, and we picked 700 bushels. I guess we got about a third of the apples raised on the place."

TOBACCO TRUST GROWING BIGGER

Two Big Tobacco Firms Will Be Taken Into the Fold.

New York, September 9.—By action of the directors of the American Tobacco Company, the Consolidated Tobacco Company and the Continental Tobacco Company meetings of the stockholders of the three organizations have been called for September 30, at which plans will be put before the stockholders for a consolidation of the three big concerns into one corporation to be known as the American Tobacco Company.

The earnings of the three companies amounted to something over twenty-two millions of dollars in 1903.

CARE OF THE TEETH.

A Few Simple Remedies for Keeping Them in Good Condition.

(From The New York Tribune.)

"A pearl in the mouth is worth two on the neck," is an up-to-date adage which women would do well to ponder over. A woman of many charms will often fail of impression if her teeth are not delicately clean and whole.

There are many factors which go to determine the soundness of one's teeth, but none more potent than that of use. Good vigorous action is necessary in order that a supply of blood may be called to the teeth to nourish them. Give a muscle no exercise and the veriest novice knows it will get soft. Give the teeth no work and they become chalky and an easy prey to decay.

Too much coking of food and the use of soft prepared dishes have had much to do with getting people out of the habit of chewing. Those who live on coarse foods requiring thorough mastication have the perfect teeth of animals, white and hard and even. The blood supply is perfect on account of the stimulation given by thorough exercise of the paws.

The higher the civilization, the worse the teeth. For not only do people eat food which is too greatly refined to require chewing, or soft and mushy from ver-preparaton, but they also eat sweets and condiments, and worst of all, perhaps, they overeat.

"The use of sugar," said a dentist whose reputation is world wide, "is bad in two ways. It not only promotes fermentation in the mouth, but it creates a false taste, which will have to be satisfied with other things equally detrimental and unneeded. And they do eat more food than necessary never can have a naturally cleansed mouth, for the saliva is provided to dissolve perfectly only the food the body needs.

"F orthe many who do not or cannot regulate their habits so that their teeth are kept naturally in good condition, there are many simple helps which do much to counteract any bad tendencies. Cleanse them thoroughly with a plain preparation of chalk and orris root, using tepid water and a stiff brush. This should be done after every meal. At lease once a day examine them thoroughly with the aid of a mirror to make sure that they are properly freed from all food particles. When you are having dentistry done, be sure to see that a space is left between the teeth sufficient to allow you to pass dental floss (common sewing silk will do) back and forth to dislodge any food that may get in. A god dentist should see to this, and also that there are no jagged edges to break and cut the silk and prevent its free movement. But the mouths of nine out of every ten people who have had extensive work done show an opposite condition of affairs.

"The necessity for clean teeth at night should be especially borne in mind. This will prevent the growth and development of micro-organisms in the mouth. These are generated most rapidly during sleep, while the person is quiescent. They cause putrefaction and decay of the teeth.

"When teeth require filling they are often acutely sgensitive on account of high acidity of the saliva, and very great pain results from any work done on them. This may be largely obviated by the use of an alkaline wash in the mouth for two or three weeks prior to a visit to the dentist. A tiny pinch of common baking soda, bought at a druggist's, to insure purity, is dissolved in a quarter of a glass of water and used to rinse the mouth thoroughly night and morning."

When Two Words Were Better Than One.

(H. M. Alden in Harper's Magazine.)

The directness of the appeal in literary expression involves a complexity of revolt against old forms. The writer is more variously tempted than the speaker into indirections. The latter would never call the sun "the orb of day" or by the classic name of "Phoebus." Yet there was a period in English literature which lasted for a long time, and is not even now wholly beyond the reach of our recollection, when it seemed a breach of dignity for a writer to call anything by its right name. The concrete thing must be relieved of its vulgarity by the mask of a phrase. The horse was "the fleet courser," and all fruits were indiscriminately "Pomona's treasures." Qualities—abstract enough in their common names—were redeemed from the vice of particularity by personification. The process of abstraction and generalization in the so-called classic age of English literature uprooted all things and set them floating in the air. The mind was not simply a mirror reflecting things, but made composite photographs of the images themselves. Nature was seen as a bundle of those composites.

Plenty of Them.

(From The Philadelphia Press.)

"You can't show me a single reason," blustered the pater familias, "why we should go to the seashore this summer."

"What?" cried his wife, pointing to their quartet of marriageable daughters, "I can show you four single reasons."

SEDITION SPREAD AMONG RUSSIANS

Revolutionary Societies Working To Start Uprising.

Special Efforts Being Made to Create Discontent in Jewish and Polish Centers—Papers Captured Show Printing Was Done in London.

St. Petersburg, September 10.—Intense activity is being displayed by some anti-Russian revolutionary organizations abroad. It seems that they have united in an effort to appeal to the discontented classes of the Russian population. Incendiary proclamations have been smuggled across the border and distributed broadcast in the towns and cities, especially in Polish and Jewish centers, calling upon the population to take advantage of the government's preoccupation owing to the war, to rise against the authorities and overthrow the autocracy.

Such propaganda in Russia always results in an increase of violence. The proclamations are addressed to the Jews in particular, but the appeals are made to all the Hetorodox sects, workmen and socialists and a new feature is that special appeals are made to the soldiers and peasants.

Many of the proclamations have been seized and it is proved that they have been printed in London.

Until now they have met with little response in Russia proper, but there have been several manifestations in various places in Poland and southwestern Russia, where the population is largely Jewish. The largest demonstration, it is understood, took place at Grodno, Poland, where 500 persons participated.

The ministry of the interior seemingly does not attach great importance to the proclamations and the reports which have been received indicate that the people have not been stirred up by them.

FASHIONS IN FRENCH PLAYS.

The Public of the Paris Boulevards Has Become Wearied.

(From The New York Sun.)

The old Palais Royal theater, which has for years supplied a certain kind of dramatic entertainment to Parisians, has been abandoned by its managers and will soon close its doors forever. Recent seasons have been unurofitable, and this discouraging state of affairs is attributed to the public's loss of interest in the farces produced there. They were so similar in character that "Palais Royal farce" described the brand throughout the theatrical world.

New York lost interest in this style of play long ago. Unfaithful and sporty husbands, actresses, befooled wives, gendarmes, indignant mothers in law, elderly rakes, knowing waiters—these were the invariable Palais Royal types. The plays they figured in differed only in detail. After a while it became difficult for the playwrights to shake the colored glasses of the kaleidoscopic into new combinations. They could sustain interest in the old situations only by adding a stronger flavor to the concoctions, and then they seasoned them so highly that little was left to the imagination. Even the special public of the boulevards, for which these pieces were written, began to find them dull; so another mode of dramatic production has been added to those accumulated in the past.

These plays, intended for audiences with theories of domestic morals so different from our own, had to be changed for local consumption. In spite of alteration, the suggestion of alien manners was not to be eradicated from them. In other respects they became insipid farces of marital intrigue and met with no real appreciation. That they were produced year after year is only further evidence of the difficulty encountered by managers in securing the plays necessary to meet the demand. These French pieces were at least the work of experienced playwrights, and that circumstance diminished somewhat the chances of failure. They had ceased to interest the American managers, however, before the source of supply in Paris ran dry.

The Palais Royal is not the only foreign theater that finds no demand for its plays here. There were formerly few dramatic seasons in New York without one of the heavy, slowly moving British melodramas with the Drury Lane hallmark. In sentiment and in humor they were nearly as far away from American sympathies as these French pieces. But they could at first stun their audiences into some kind of a sensation before the play was ended. Dynamite was sometimes necessary to accomplish this climax, but it ultimately arrived. During recent years it took too long in arriving, for dramatists had exhausted almost every means of giving spectators the violent physical shock necessary to success in this school of melodrama. So another exotic dramatic production has disappeared.

The path of the American dramatist has just been cleared of two competitors; but the list of works by native dramatists to be produced this season is not yet long enough to cause any emotion of patriotic pride.

The Delineator for October — Out To-day!

It is a notable number in many ways—in contributions, in illustrations, in fine printing. Most important to its five million readers, is the

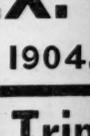

First News of Fall Fashions

It is the month of all others when dress is uppermost in "Her" mind. It is the month she has been waiting for, and the pages of her favorite magazine prove that the waiting has not been in vain. There is no use in trying to describe the fascinations of the month's fashion features. You must see the magazine itself. The colored plates are better than ever before, as we promised they would be, but here also the magazine is its own best advertisement.

A new series of interest to all music lovers begins in this number: "The Loves of Great Composers," by Gustav Kobbe. The opening article is entitled "Beethoven and His Immortal Beloved," with many illustrations, including a hitherto unpublished portrait of his "Constance."

The now-famous series on Personal Beauty by Dr. Grace Peckham Murray, deals this month with certain physical exercises for bodily symmetry and grace of carriage. These are practical articles and thousands of women all over the world are being benefited by them.

Richard Le Gallienne contributes a beautiful poem-story that ranks with the very best of the writings of this modern master of English style. It is superbly illustrated.

Christine Terhune Herrick writes an article on "Field Hockey for Girls," which is both interesting to the general reader and technically helpful to those who would enjoy this rare outdoor sport.

Lina Beard's illustrated directions for a Hallowe'en party will attract all families with children in them. It presents several novel features.

CAME NEAR HANGING HIMSELF.

Confederate Veteran and His Tight Rope Act.

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—As the result of an endeavor to please his audience an old confederate veteran, James McBee, came within an ace of displeasing his air pipe. The old gentleman was given a permit by the mayor a few days ago to do certain tricks by which he earns his living on the streets of Macon. It seems that he fastens a noose around his neck and travels across the street on a tighe rope in midair. Usually he travels, but on this particular occasion there was a hitch in the programme and the old gentleman was suspended by the neck in the air at the corner of Hazel and Calhoun streets until a negro came to his rescue. Had he remained there a few minutes longer no doubt he would have been strangled and his audience would have witnessed a more tragic spectacle than was put down on the programme.

No Strike for Three Years.

New York, September 9.—A written contract covering conditions agreed to last Saturday by officials of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and reports of the unions of all classes of employees on the elevated road, was signed today. The main point in the agreement is that it prohibits the motormen from striking in the next three years.

Davis Visits Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., September 9.—Democratic candidate for the vice presidency, former Senator Henry G. Davis, stopped off in Baltimore today. He had a conference with United States Senator A. P. Gorman at Hotel Bennert. Senator Davis declined to discuss politics, but said: "I think we shall win."

Ratified at Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., September 9.—The action of President Donnelly in declaring the packing house strike off was unanimously ratified at a meeting today at the conference of the local employees. Tomorrow many of the men will apply for reinstatement.

How to Water Plants.

(Fro mSeptember Woman's Home Companion.)

Improper watering is often the cause of failure with plants. The usual plan is to daily sprinkle a small quantity of water in each pot containing a plant. If those who water plants in this manner, as most beginners do, could see the florist water his plants, they might fear the plants were being drowned, but they would learn a lesson in plant culture that would be of much benefit. The florist waters his plants (with a few exceptions) either daily, every other day or twice a week, according to the weather, and when the watering is done the soil about the plant is completely saturated. The pot being well provided at the bottom with drainage material—usually broken pieces of pots—the surplus water passes off, yet the soil is so wet that the roots can absorb from it all the moisture required for the best development of top growth. ne watering of this kind a week will do vastly more good to the plants than the daily sprinkling so generally practiced.

FOR TAKING AN AIR BATH.

An Opportunity Given to Allow the Skin to Breathe.

From the New York Mail.

It must be remembered that we rarely, if ever, give our skin the opportunity to breathe properly. Our perverted condition in regard to heavy, unventilated and often restricted clothing has given us a skin that is constantly moist, clammy and cold to the touch. Or else it is dry and dead and can be rubbed off by the hand with little effort. Restricted clothing not only damages the lungs and internal vital organs of the body, but causes the circulation to the skin to become stagnant and poor. A great many ills that we do not understand are caused by the unhygienic practice of smothering the skin.

Give your body an air bath! Reanimate your skin! This is a splendid time to begin the habit of doing so, since a "cold" need not be feared at this time of the year, and you will strengthen the skin against the more severe season. Exposures and draughts against the body is a superstition more or less. The writer has often stood before a cold draught taking an air bath in winter and the practice has yielded a day's tonic to the body that cannot be explained, but must be tried upon one's own person to be understood and appreciated.

Open your windows wide and exercise until the pores have become awakened. Then let the cool, fresh morning air play upon your body, lying down if your desire. It will be a treat that you will never want to miss again. It acts as a delightful tonic to the nerves. There is no better medicine for weak, nervous people than the air bath. The very blood tingles with the unaccustomed freedom of the body and its contact with the energizing air.

CONSTITUTION PUBLISHING CO.

ATLANTA, GA., Sept. 10, 1904.

It is up to the railroad commission.

"When this cruel war is o'er" at Manassas.

On again—off again—gone again—Kuropatkin.

The boll weevil insists on remaining a problem.

The fields are snow-flecked with the opening cotton bolls.

Let the middle-of-the-roaders beware of the automobile of progress.

Viceroy Alexieff should be foxy enough to keep out of the running.

There's a commercial species of the Chefoo liar in the Chicago wheat pit.

Never mind about Brother Fairbanks' Arctic temperament; has his bar'l thawed out yet?

If you are going to take in the St. Louis exposition, don't fail to be there on Georgia day.

There will not be so many "peonage" prosecutions in the south "after the presidential election."

The republicans have that Russian feeling with reference to the political complexion of the next congress.

The democratic fight is for the preservation of a constitutional republic, and let no voter lose sight of this fact.

Doubtless Admiral Dewey feels that $18,411 in prize money is a very gratifying material concomitant of fame.

What war isn't doing to dispel the malthusian surplus population bugaboo the railroads are doing pretty effectively.

Of course, no cocaine is being illegally sold in Atlanta, but somehow the "fiends" are shifty in keeping themselves supplied with the drug.

Kuropatkin has about reached the place where he is to receive the unkindest cut of all in the shape of his pinhead sovereign's base ingratitude for duty well but vainly done.

A newspaper is still printed daily in bomb-swept Port Arthur. That's cool; but say, oh say, does that little Russian bandovitch still play "Hiawatha" daily in the parksky?

The Republicans will have to admit that the judicial future president at Esopus can make a rattling good stump speech on occasion. He scored some telling points before the editors.

At the close of an unusually successful season as a ne plus ultra summer resort Atlanta will be pardoned for indulging the spiel that she is also some shucks as a winter sanitarium, climatically speaking.

The Alabama judge has ordered a special sitting of the grand jury to endeavor to find indictments against the Huntsville mob. Right. Justice is crying for an example to be made of this species of anarchist.

If, after the battle Kuropatkin, cut off from the railroad, escaped with the remnant of his army to Chinese territory to the west, we shall have a question of Chinese neutrality raised compared with which the Chefoo and Shanghai incidents were very insignificant.

Port Arthur has resolved itself into an inch by inch sappers' siege, the most desperate assaults having proved utterly unavailing. If the Japs cannot burrow their way to victory, starvation alone, or the exhaustion of the ammunition, will cause the fall of the Gibralter of the Orient.

The Dingleyites are confronted with a staggering tariff problem. They must make the duty punishment fit the crime of importing radium into the United States. Our infant radium industry must be protected even if it requires a duty of a billion dollars an ounce to keep the foreign article out.

A mob of a thousand Philadelphians chased a negro like a mad dog, and, but for the calling out of the police reserves, would have done him to death, and all because the negro struck a white boy with whom he was quarreling. Is there, after all, so very much difference between northern and southern "civilization" when it comes to the race question?

The Uselessness of It.

The utter collapse of the strike brought on at Chicago by the butchers' union serves to again call attention to the uselessness of the strike as a weapon for the correction of abuses, fancied or real.

It is not necessary to discuss the merits of this particular controversy further than to refer to the fact that the trouble was due to a difference of opinion beween the employers and the employees over the wages paid unskilled labor. Because the packers declined to accede to the demands of this class of labor—the skilled laborers being satisfied with the wages paid them—a strike was ordered by the organization. Then came a sympathetic strike on the part of men in other branches of business until something like 53,000 workingmen were out of employment.

Now, the strike has been called off and it is announced that only a small percentage of the unskilled laborers whose grievance precipitated it, will be able to get back the positions they left. In the meantime, the strikers have lost something like $5,000,000 in wages, while the packers have lost more by the loss of business and increased expenses. Absolutely nothing has been secured to the men with the original grievance. Indeed, they have lost what little they had.

There has been, and for some time will be, suffering in thousands of humble homes. The packers will in the end be able to get back what they have lost, this coming, of course, from the consumers; but the strikers have only depleted pocketbooks to show as their part.

Nobody can rightly criticise laboring men for getting the highest wages possible. But if any one thing has been demonstrated through years of experience, it is that the strike is the poorest possible weapon for them to employ when they have a grievance.

The Part of the Churches.

The action of the Methodist church at Statesboro in calling for the resignation of those of its members—if there be any—who participated in the recent mob outbreak or that they make public expression of penitence, has called forth expressions of hearty approval on all sides.

For instance, The New York Evening Post, which is one of the strongest critics of the lynching evil wherever it may show its head, makes this comment:

From Statesboro itself comes news as encouraging in one aspect as it is grotesque in its general implications. The Methodist Episcopal church of the town has called upon all its members who participated in the lynching to resign their membership or make public expression of penitence. Such an action powerfully reinforces on the spot the outcry that the best element of the south has raised against the late horrors. In the long run this evil must be cured locally, each neighborhood dealing with its own cruel and lawless population. The Rev. Mr. Langston, in inspiring his flock to show the courage and the indignation that befits Christians confronted with a Godless and inhuman act, has probably done more to redeem Statesboro than all the criticism of the press or all possible intervention by the executive or judiciary. One man of this fiber is as ten thousand in those unhappy regions where the wilder passions of the mob are threatening the very fabric of society.

What The Post says of Mr. Langston and his part in bringing about this result is highly deserved. He represents the true spirit of the church. That it is possible for professing Christians to willingly take part in the overthrow of the law and of civilization may be a little difficult to understand, but so long as that is possible, certainly the church has no higher duty than to keep alive the anti-lynching crusade in season and out of season.

In other words, ministers of the gospel should not wait until there has been an outbreak, but they should all the time be impressing upon their people the vital necessity of upholding the law. As the law is the outgrowth of civilization, so can there be no civilization worthy the name without respect for the law.

Fighting Fever Germs.

Much significance attaches to the experiments of the federal health officials and those more recently conducted by the Philadelphia bureau of health, in the hope of discovering a plan for ridding water of typhoid fever germs. The conclusions of the scientists at Washington have been virtually verified by the investigations of the chemists and bacteriologists in the Quaker City, in so far as they apply to the beneficial use of copper sulphate in drinking water, or the immunizing of water by allowing it to stand in copper-lined vessels.

Typhoid fever is a sufficiently serious and prevalent national disease to justify the most rigorous measures for its suppression. The medical profession is practically agreed that, like pneumonia and several other major maladies, typhoid is more easily prevented than cured. In fact, no positive specific has yet been discovered, the activity of the average physician being confined to scrupulously careful nursing, the husbanding of strength for the crisis, the treatment of acute symptoms and precautions against dangerous complications. It has come to be the consensus of expert opinion, too, that where the disease is not produced by cesspools or imperfect drainage, it is introduced into the system by impure drinking water, which may become polluted through a thousand channels unknown or against which no safe provision can be made.

The drainage and cesspool menace are being gradually removed in intelligent communities, leaving the other fruitful source, drinking water, the main consideration. It has been proven that the most delicate mechanical filtration will not always eliminate the deadly germs, so that it becomes necessary to cast about for some more assured agency. Of all the methods investigated by modern hygienists, the copper sulphate appears the most promising. The branch of the process which simply contemplates purifying the water by allowing it to stand in copper-lined vessels is explained and its efficacy proven in the following extract from a recent issue of The Philadelphia North American:

Dr. A. H. Stewart, bacteriologist in the bureau of health, recently made the following experiment. He took copper vessels and tin vessels of various capacity and filled them with boiled water from the Schuylkill. The water was boiled to remove the ordinary germs of all kinds. In each vessel he then put 22,500,000 typhoid fever germs after the water had cooled. About a half teaspoonful of water contained this large number of germs.

At the end of three hours he examined the water in the vessels under a powerful microscope. In water taken from a copper vessel he did not find a single typhoid fever germ, while in a drop of water taken from a tin vessel he found 4,500.

These vessels held two quarts of water each. In similar vessels holding a half quart of water each he did not find any germs in water from the copper one, while in water from the tin one he found 76,000 typhoid fever germs.

This experiment, Dr. Stewart says, proves that the germs are killed off in copper-lined vessels, while they multiply in tin vessels.

The other method consists of charging the water with copper sulphate (blue vitriol), one part of the solution to a million parts of water being sufficient to exterminate the typhoid germs. Authorities in Washington and Philadelphia state that this infinitesimal quantity of copper can work no injury to the human system, citing the experience of the regular workers in all branches of the copper industry, who are declared to be immune from contagious affections.

There is no immediate intention of applying the copper treatment to Philadelphia's public water supply, the experts stating that their researches have not reached the perfection which will warrant a practical induction of their theories. Enough has been accomplished, to demonstrate that the copper sulphate treatment is of distinct utility and the latter result appears only to await the completion of a few minor details.

The annual mortality from typhoid fever is a serious factor in the municipal health problem all over the United States, and if one of its chief provoking causes can be removed at such relatively small expense, few cities will offer objection to such an amendment to their water supply. The crusade against typhoid has almost taken on the proportions of the movements against tuberculosis and infant mortality from impure milk. In the light of rapidly increasing facilities for controlling these three prolific sources of death, it is probable that within the next two decades the city which fails to avail itself of all possible preventive measures will be classed almost as criminal.

Conditions in Porto Rico.

In the current Reader Magazine the Rt. Rev. James H. Van Buren, D. D., missionary bishop of Porto Rico, has an interesting survey of the political, social and industrial conditions in that island after six years of American occupation. The bishop's paper, while obviously written in defense of the powers that be, contains several statements that lead the unprejudiced reader to believe that conditions in Porto Rico are anything but healthy and promising. His assertion that half of the workingmen on the island can get no employment whatsoever, coupled with the admission that hundreds of the poor people have died and are still dying of anemia, or impoverished blood from insufficient nourishment—in other words, starvation—shows a condition that is really deplorable. When Mr. Gompers, the American labor leader, made the same statement in blunter fashion a few months ago, after a personal visit to the island, the powers that be accused him of "gross exaggeration." Bishop Van Buren avers that deaths from anemia are due to a "bacillus," and that the malady is now being successfully treated. Perhaps there is a bacillus of starvation, and probably it can be successfully dispelled by beef tea broth and other light but strengthening foods usually given sufferers in that sad predicament.

This writer makes it clear enough that the Porto Ricans are very much dissatisfied with their present colonial status and would infinitely prefer the suzerainty of Spain. It is not the lower classes alone who have this feeling, but it seems to be universal, the business element sharing it and, it would seem, inciting the masses to discontent and pessimism. The bishop opines:

And if it should happen that the business men of Porto Rico should discover that it was to their commercial advantage for the American sovereignty to continue, there would be a sudden cessation of so much of the complaint, that the silence could almost be felt.

In his opinion the lack of American investments is a great cause of the low wages and lack of opportunity for employment and local development, and of the consequent discontent. Doubtless this is true, for Americans have not taken kindly to the exploitation of the island in other than a political sense. The republican party inflicted a body blow on the island when it denied it tariff justice and refused to consider the constitution as following the flag. In consequence, Porto Rico lost the market of Spain, which formerly took all her coffee at 20 or 25 cents a pound, and now Americans will not buy her really excellent coffee in competition with the cheap Brazilian grades at more than 10 cents. The same is true of Porto Rico tobacco. It has been greatly injured by its sole dependence on the American market.

We dare say the chief cause of discontent will be found in the governing system imposed by the republican party of the United States—a system that bestows much less local self-government than that of the former Spanish masters. Bishop Van Buren thus succinctly describes the American method of governing Porto Rico:

In order to a clear understanding of the political situation, it is necessary to describe the government which has been framed on the provisions of the Foraker act. At the risk of repeating things familiar, it should be said that the governor is appointed by the president of the United States, the same being true of the executive council, consisting of six Americans and five Porto Ricans. These six Americans are also heads of departments, as follows: The secretary, attorney general, treasurer, auditor, commissioner of the interior and commissioner of education. The eleven members of the executive council constitute a house similar to the senate. There is another house, entitled the house of delegates, consisting of thirty-five members, chosen by popular vote from the seven districts of the island, five from each. Every town has its mayor, or alcalde, and its common council, or ayuntamiento, all elective. But the governor has the power to remove a mayor for cause, and to appoint his successor.

In short, six carpetbag Americans to five natives to enact all the local legislation, and the governor can remove an obnoxious mayor!

The good bishop also informs us of another cause of native dissatisfaction with the American "invaders," as follows:

Were all resident Americans careful to observe their country's laws, there would be less reason for the Porto Rican to be impatient, but such an affair as that of the smuggling cases of a year ago could not fail to occasion great distrust. Nor has it ceased to rankle in the native breast that after all the scandal the prosecution was stopped. The statement found currency that the accused had settled their cases by payment of the fines and duties. Nevertheless it is openly said that when a poor peon is caught smuggling a gallon of rum he is put in jail, but that influential Americans can smuggle $700 worth of contraband goods per month, keep up the practice for the space of three or four years, using a government steamer and government wagons to remove it from the landing place on a government dock, and then—escape! Probably nothing that has happened in Porto Rico since the occupation has done so much to shake the popular confidence in American integrity and loyalty and to impede the progress of American ideas as this apparent miscarriage of justice.

There is really but one redeeming feature to the picture painted by Bishop Van Buren, and that is the improved educational condition of the island. There were but 25,000 children in school at the time of the American occupation, whereas there are now between 75,000 and 100,000 children in the public, private, parochial and mission schools of Porto Rico.

TALKS ABOUT ATLANTA.

Cordele News: When Atlanta gets dirty she goes out and cleans up.

Cartersville News and Courant: It is about time for Atlanta to bring on another row.

Darien Gazette: Atlanta may lose the baseball pennant, it is true, but she will still have Bobby Walthour.

Augusta Herald: Atlanta is not asleep. That five-cornered mayoralty race is getting ready to waken things up.

Thomasville, Ga., Press: From what the Atlanta newspapers say of it, the cream of Atlanta milk is Chattahoochee mud.

Marietta Journal: Atlanta is greatly perturbed over dirty water, dirty milk and dirty politics. Atlanta should put in a filter.

Macon Telegraph: Atlanta is not a safe place in which to "make money" according to the counterfeiters now in the Tower up there.

Americus Times-Recorder: Atlanta may be a good place to make money, but the bunch of citizens jailed there recently for counterfeiting hold a different idea.

Rome Tribune: Joe Johnson, Bishop Potter's barkeeper, is an old Atlanta man, hence he will always keep on hand a lot of that famous "Atlanta spirit" at the subway tavern.

Albany Herald: The Atlanta city council has turned down the invitation of President Francis to have an Atlanta day at the world's fair in St. Louis. The Atlanta idea is to have all things in Atlanta.

Savannah Press: Montgomery wants all governors to obey the law and reside there while they are in office. Atlanta likes to have them live there after they get out of office. What is politics but business?

Macon Telegraph: A lecturer has been telling the Atlantans what large careers are open for them in New York city. Of course! Only think of Will Black as a Tammany brave and Joe Johnson as boss of the subway tavern!

Bristol, Va., News: Atlanta is waging a war on cocaine. Its use, particularly among the negroes, has increased to an alarming extent, until the police of the city are having more trouble with cocaine drunks than with whisky drunks.

Brunswick News: Poor Atlanta. Her baseball fans have been sleeping at night with one eye on the Crackers, who were making a hot chase for the pennant, but it seems that after all the flag will not fly over Piedmont park this season.

Worth County Local: A constant reader of the Atlanta papers, believing all that he reads, would probably be lead to suspect that Atlanta water is not exactly all that it should be, while Atlanta milk is lower down in the scale of... ould cussedness than Decatur street "bust head" whiskey. And he wouldn't be far wrong either.

Fitzgerald Citizen: If the Atlanta newspaper reports are true, it is not safe to drink Atlanta water or milk. And the Atlanta prohibitionists declare most emphatically that Atlanta beer and whisky is bad for the system. The Atlanta doctors all say the Atlantans must drink a plenty during the hot season. Now what will the poor Atlantans do?

Jacksonville, Fla., Metropolis: Atlanta is fully awake to the menace of retail traffic in cocaine, and the police are rigorously enforcing the law against the sale of the drug. Atlanta has an effective ordinance on the subject, and with strict enforcement, which is insured, the evil will be greatly reduced. Indeed a partial enforcement of the law during the past year has materially curbed the cocaine habit.

President Entertains Austrians.

Oyster Bay, R. I., September 9.—Austrian Ambassador Baron Hengelmueller and Count Apponyi, president of the Austro-Hungarian diet, were guests of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt today at Sagamore Hill. Count Apponyi decided to pay his respects to the president, and the presentation to him today was arranged through the Austrian embassy. The visit, it is explained, has no special significance, it being the desire of the distinguished callers merely to greet the president at his home.

The Billville Banner.

We acknowledge, with thanks, an invitation to a literary banquet, but will have to decline. Last time we attended one the hotel man refused to serve a plate 'till he was paid in advance, and the result was we had to dine on leather book bindings, and a sort of "literary stew," made out of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary.

We have made enough cotton this year for the sheriff to levy on; corn enough to feed his entire family, and whiskey enough to make him rise up early in the morning and shout hallelula on a high hill!

The only automobile in town ran away with Mayor Smith's mother in law on Tuesday evening last, but failed to kill her. We sympathize with our friend, the major, in his deep disappointment.

PRUNES SHIPPED TO FRANCE.

California Growth Reboxed and Labeled and Sent Back Here.

(From The San Francisco Argonaut.)

The glamor of a foreign name is potent in selling comestibles. Many a box of prunes labeled "French" sells at a price that, together with the label, convinces the critical eastern housewife of the high quality of its contents, and puts it beyond the reach of the boarding-house keeper. She buys "California" prunes, to the disgust of her boarders, who, did they but know it, are grumbling over fruit identical in quality with that set before the critical housewife's husband. For the French have a trick that, while reprehensible, reflects credit on our product. At Bordeaux, the real center of the prune trade of the world, the prune crop for 1903 was a failure. California prunes were bought by Bordeaux dealers who repacked them in attractive form, made them lithographically French and shipped them back to America.

Albion W. Tourgee, American consul at Bordeaux, is authority for this statement made in a consular report. He says that the prune crop at Bordeaux last year was only one-twentieth of the normal output; yet in the last six months of the year the dealers there reshipped some $20,000 worth of California prunes to America, where their supposed origin and their attractive packing found them a ready market.

There is an obvious moral in this, which is that California prune growers should pack their fruit as well as the French do, and make it in every way as tempting in appearance. It might not be a bad plan, either, to put a copy of Consul Tourgee's report in each box.

STATE PRESS COMMENT.

Where Guns Are Trained.

(From the Waycross Herald.)

If Watson is fighting anybody in Georgia it is the democrats. We already have the republicans beat.

Shattered Illusions.

(From the Macon Telegraph.)

Three American girls who became duchesses have returned home dukeless—not that their dukes are dead, but are deadbeats.

What Has Become of It.

(From The Americus Times-Recorder.)

Lost, strayed or stolen; that Calvin vagrancy law. If located anywhere in Georgia and made to move on, no questions will be asked.

Best People Disapprove.

(From The Rome Tribune.)

The Methodist church of Statesboro has passed very strong resolutions denouncing the recent lynching there. And yet some of the "prominent citizens of Statesboro" inform us that the best people approve the lynching and uphold it.

A Needed Enactment.

(From The Savannah Press.)

The editor of The Eatonton Messenger insists that Mr. Calvin yielded to pressure and did not amend his vagrancy law. Editor Adams thinks that the amendment repealing the bonds clause would have been worth more to Georgia than all of his other bills combined.

Russian Optimist.

(From the Albany Herald.)

Shoot a Russian through the heart, cut off his head, slice his body into quarters and cremate the remnants, his ashes will then blow themselves into the semblance of a gentle smile, afterward thank you for your attentions and assure you of his gratitude that you didn't mash his corns.

Enforce Vagrant Law.

(From The Macon Telegraph.)

The press of the state can do the people of Georgia no higher service at this hour than to strenuously demand the enforcement of the Calvin act in all its letter and intendments. Insist that the grand juries and the police authorities begin a prompt and vigorous crusade against the idle and vicious parasites of the purlieus, and right soon the cotton fields will be black with beggars for cotton bags and wages.

"Blue Gum"; Negroes.

(From the Albany Herald.)

By many persons the belief that death lurks in the bite of a "blue gum" negro is regarded as a fallacy too palpable to be seriously thought of by people of intelligence. Nevertheless, we now and then hear of cases where persons bitten by negroes with blue gums have suffered intensely from the effects of the wounds, and in some instances the victims have died. The latter fate overtook a resident of this county on Tuesday in Atlanta. About two months ago, J. N. Porter was bitten on the thumb by a negro woman. His arm was finally amputated, but in the end Porter died.

Just why the bite of a "blue gum" negro should prove more dangerous than that of a negro with gums of ordinary composition has never been settled, but the fact remains that "blue gum" negroes are not very much less deadly than rattlesnakes when wounds like that received by the Dougherty county farmer two months ago are neglected.

White's Best Cotton Farmer.

(From the Savannah News.)

There is no doubt a scarcity of labor in this and all the other cotton states during the cotton picking season. There wouldn't be perhaps, if all the idle hands could be obtained for cotton picking. There are in this city for instance, thousands of black men and women who could make good wages in cotton fields if they would accept employment. Their services would be gladly accepted, but they cannot be induced to go beyond the city's limits.

And so it is becoming to be the case that white people are harvesting the crop. In all the territory tributary to the Georgia, Southern and Florida railway there are comparatively few negro farm laborers. The farms are small and are owned and worked by white men and their families. What is being done by white labor in this section will be done in other sections of the south. The farms are small, and the labor of cultivating them is done largely by the people who occupy them. The intensive system of farming is becoming popular. Stock is being introduced and much of the fertilizer that is needed is being produced on the farms. In this way the scouth's output of cotton will be increased from year to year and the world's demand should exceed 20,000,000 a year.

Troup and Watson.

(From the Savannah Press.)

An Atlanta paper, commenting on Candidate Watson's appearance in Atlanta last week, said his was the only speech ever made in this state by a candidate for the presidency.

Of course this is an error. Georgians before have been candidates for the presidency. William H. Crawford, for instance, was a candidate, and the inscription on his tomb in Ogelthorpe county tells that he came within three votes of being chosen by the electoral college. Then several candidates for president have made tours in the south. Both Clay and Webster spoke in Savannah when they were stumping for the presidency. So did Stephen A. Douglas.

With one exception, however, Mr. Thomas E. Watson is probably the only Georgia candidate who has been nominated by any political party for the presidency. George M. Troup, in 1852, was nominated for the presidency of the United States by a convention of the southern rights party in Alabama, with General Quitman as vice president. Governor Troup consented to the use of his name for "organizing the states rights party and maintaining and consecrating its principles." The Troup and Quitman ticket got a few thousand votes in Alabama. Troup and Watson are the two Georgians who have enjoyed the distinction of being regular nominees for president of the United States.

MAY WANT TO BUY CITY LAND.

Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern May Need Part of the Old Dumping Ground.

The Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern railroad is considering the question of purchasing a portion of the old city dumping ground near Bellwood, to be used in connection with other property which it has purchased in securing an entrance into the city.

A representative of the road called on Mayor Howell and asked him at what price a strip of land about 300 feet wide and nearly half a mile long, through this property, could be secured for. Mayor Howell stated that he could not name a price, and that if the company wanted to purchase the property it would have to petition council.

The Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern has purchased considerable property in that section, which, it is said, cannot be used to advantage unless a right of way through the old city dumping ground is secured. It is probable, therefore, that a petition will be presented to council within a short time looking to securing the required right of way through the city's property.

Steel Mills Starting Up.

Sharpn, Pa., September 9.—Fires were lighted in the blooming bar mills at south Sharon today, preparatory to a resumption next Monday. The wire and wire nail works also will start on Monday, affording employment to over two thousand men. Blast furnace No. 2 of the Carnegie Steel Company has also resumed.

INQUIRY REPORT COMES MONDAY

Board of Officers Will Meet in Atlanta September 12.

Voluminous Records Will be Submitted to Governor Terrell—Investigation Has Been Thorough in Detail—Other Capitol News of Interest.

The report of the court of inquiry which investigated the conduct of the militia at the recent Statesboro lynching incident will be in the hands of Governor Terrell by 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The stenographers who reported the case are now busy transcribing their notes, but they will have finished their task by Saturday, and Colonel Wooten has called a meeting of the court to be held at the Piedmont hotel, in Atlanta, at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Governor Terrell is at present in Manassas, but will return to Atlanta Saturday evening or Sunday morning and be at his office all day Monday ready at any time to receive the report of the court of inquiry.

The court is made up of Colonel W. H. Wooten, Albany, president; Lieutenant Colonel Jordan F. Brooks, Savannah; Lieutenant Colonel W. W. Barker, Atlanta, and Captain Warren Grice, Hawkinsville, recorder. The entire court, with the possible exception of Captain Grice, who has no voice in making up the report, will be present at Monday's meeting.

At the time of the investigation, which was held in Savannah, the court went very thoroughly into all the details of the case, and there will be a voluminous mass of evidence submitted to the court by the stenographers. However, the three officers who are to pass on the matter are familiar with the testimony and it is thought, can frame their report in a few hours.

There is a great deal of curiosity in military circles all over the state concerning the prospective report of the court, and the recommendations made by the investigating body will be awaited with much interest.

Mob Did Not Come.

For a time it was feared at the adjutant general's office yesterday morning that there would be another lynching in Georgia. Advices were received by Adjutant General Harris that a mob had been organized in Mitchell county to lynch Whitley Williford, a negro prisoner wanted in Mitchell county for murder, and then in jail at Bainbridge for safekeeping. The telegrams from Bainbridge stated that Judge Spence, of the Albany circuit, desired the military to be called out, and, acting on this information, Adjutant General Harris telegraphed to Captain Hawes, of the Bainbridge military company, instructing him to call out his company and guard the prisoner. This was done, but it soon developed that the report of a mob was unfounded, and the troops were thereupon dismissed.

Commission Hard at Work.

The railroad commission yesterday spent another day wrestling with the problem of revising the standard tariff for the state of Georgia. All the commissioners favor giving Atlanta and the other communities suffering from freight rate discrimination all the relief possible by changing and reducing the standard tariff but it may take several days yet to work out the problem. The commission will meet again today and every day from now on until the work is finished.

State School Commissioner Merritt, who spoke at an enthusiastic educational rally in Union county yesterday, is expected back at his office today. Commissioner Merritt has made three speeches at educational rallies during this week.

BAGLEY MAY GET INTO RACE.

Political Situation is Getting Somewhat Warmer in the Eighth Ward.

It was reported yesterday in city hall circles that H. C. Bagley would probably announce for council from the new eighth ward. Whether Mr. Bagley will announce for the long or the short term was not stated, and as he is not in the city the information could not be secured.

Lewis W. Thomas has announced that he is a candidate for the long term. W. H. Patterson is willing to be a candidate for either the long or the short term, it is stated. Mr. Patterson's friends insist that he shall run for the long term.

In the event the city subcommittee should adopt the resolution now pending providing that the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be the nominee for the long term, and the candidate receiving the next highest number shall be the candidate for the short term, there will be no candidate for the short term. The three candidates would simply run for council and the two receiving the highest and the next highest votes would get the long and the short terms respectively.

It is admitted that the conditions in the sixth ward are entirely different, and should this resolution be passed by the subcommittee, it is not likely any attempt would be made to apply it to that ward.

James G. Woodward paid his assessment of $75 as a candidate for mayor to Treasurer W. J. Campbell yesterday. This makes three of the candidates for mayor who have paid up, Messrs. Goodwin, Stockdell and Woodward. Julius A. Fischer, candidate for alderman from the third ward, also paid his assessment of $50 and R. E. Campbell, candidate for council from the first ward, paid $30.

Honor for Archbishop Chappelle.

Rome, September 9.—Secretary of State Cardinal Merry del Val, who has come to receive the diplomatic corps, granted an audience to Archbishop Chappelle, archbishop of New Orleans, which is a special distinction, audiences being very rare now. The archbishop explained that the object of his visit was to present his homage to the new pope and to submit the report of his delegation to Cuba and Porto Rico and of the diocese of New Orleans. The secretary was most cordial and expressed a wish to see more of Archbishop Chappelle during his stay in Rome.

ANGRY WOMAN LASHED HARMON

Mrs. Jule Wylie Declared He Had Taken Her Money.

Said She Thought She Was Married to Robert Harmon—Was Fined $15 and Costs by the Recorder—Harmon Not in Court.

Robert Harmon, an employee of the Boatenreiter & Loftis Plumbing Company, was given a public cowhiding yesterday morning in front of the Hunter street entrance to the state capitol by Mrs. Julia Wylie, who declares she believed Harmon to be her husband.

Mrs. Wylie is the widow of the late Jule Wylie, who was sent to the state penitentiary on a charge of robbery, and who was shot and killed by a guard while attempting to escape.

Immediately after she attacked Harmon yesterday morning and lashed him over the shoulders with a buggy whip, she was arrested and carried to the police station, where she was tried during the afternoon and fined $5 and costs.

Harmon was walking along Hunter street with his employer, Boatenreiter, yesterday morning, when he was suddenly set upon by Mrs. Wylie. She struck him six blows over the shoulders before he could escape. When he succeeded in getting out of reach of the whip he ran toward the Georgia railroad and has not been seen since. Mrs. Wylie reentered a cab and drove away, but was followed by Mr. Boatenreiter, at whose instance she was arrested.

At the trial Mrs. Wylie gave her name as Minnie Harmon. She said: "He robbed me of my money and other articles and I wanted them. I thought he was my husband all the time."

She declared he had no right to take her money and seemed to think that she had proceeded properly in giving him a public whipping.

Mr. Boatenretier, who declared he was deeply humiliated at being mixed up in the affair, said:

"I am sorry that I was present when the affair took place. I do not wish to be seen on the street with a woman of that character. Harmon told me that this woman had been getting all his salary, and I think she resented his actions when he tried to cut off relations with her. She has been bleeding him to death."

Governor's Decision Affects County Schools.

Valdosta, Ga., September 9.—(Special.) The recent decision of Governor Terrell that he will not sign warrants for the payment of school teachers for teaching not done in the proper calendar year, has complicated school matters in this county, and it is now probable that the public school in Lowndes will not open before the 1st of December, a month later than usual. For several years the schools in the county have been operated ahead of the school appropriation, the teachers' salaries for November and December being paid out of the appropriation for the following year. The governor's ruling forbids this in future, so that the atrons will either have to pay the tuition for November or have no schools. The county board of education has funds available with which to pay for one month more this year. Under the plan adopted by the board it would have to run the schools of the county out even with the appropriation by the end of 1905 could it have been carried out.

County School Commissioner Smith has called a meeting of the board of education for tomorrow at which time it will be decided exactly what the board intends to do in the matter.

ATLANTANS ON TRAIN BUT WERE NOT INJURED

fied to learn that she was not more seriously injured.

Injured Met at Howell Station.

Dr. E. H. Richardson, surgeon for the Seaboard in Atlanta; Dr. J. S. B. Holmes, who was called to act as counsel, and Dr. E. D. Richardson left late yesterday afternoon for Howell station, and with them a Constitution reporter boarded the Seaboard train bringing in a number of those who were injured in the wreck. The only two occupying berths in the sleeper were Mrs. Jerome Silvey and G. W. Hinson, of Lenox, Ga. The others, including Mr. Silvey and Pullman Conductor Chapman, of Atlanta, were able to sit up and walk around, although it was evident that they were suffering from severe bruises.

All of those injured were able to be examined and Mr. Hinton was also able to get up and walk, although it was with some difficulty. An attempt was made to try and persuade him to go to the Grady hospital, but he insisted on going on to his home in Lenox, Ga.

"If you want to get the real story from the coolest man I ever saw in my life," said Conductor Chapman, "just shake hands with Mr. F. S. Toepleman, of Henderson, N. C., and let him talk to you, for if any one knows about it he does. I tried to look after my passengers as best I could, but he looked after everybody and he might have been miles away from the wreck as far as his actions were concerned, for he never lost his presence of mind for a minute."

Then Mr. Toepleman said pretty much the same thing about Conductor Chapman, who was evidently suffering great pain from his left leg, which was badly swollen. Mr. Toepleman escaped with nothing more serious than some bruises. He said:

"It all happened so quickly that it is a pretty hard matter to describe it. I was asleep in my berth at the time and I knew nothing until I awoke to find myself in the midst of darkness and that a wreck had occurred, although I still supposed we were on the track, as I don't remember falling. It may have been only a few seconds, but it seemed a long time that everything was as still as it was dark. Then came the cries of the injured, the calling for help and moaning and the sounds of awful suffering. As soon as I was able to get out of the tangle I was in I got out of the train and began helping to get the others out of the sleeper. Then I tried to get those who were in the day coach just ahead out of the wreck. It was at this time that I remember hearing the flagman, who was badly hurt and unable to move, call out from where he was imprisoned, 'For God's sake flag that next train. It will be on us.'

Another Terrible Crash.

"It was no time before there was another terrific crash and the engine and caboose dropped on top of the wreck, smashing the sleeper in such a way that it certainly would have killed any inside if they had not been gotten outside. When the crash came I knew that it meant another train had fallen on top of us and I thought that certainly no one could escape, but happily by this time we had gotten all of the passengers out of the sleeper and most of those out of the day coach and these were the two cars struck by the engine and cab.

"I don't believe it was until then that I realized that we had gone through a trestle, for we had all been so busy getting out of the wreck. Two of the ladies were suffering untold agonies and I thought at the time that there must be many who were dead and many more who were dying and that the first thing needed was a special carrying doctors. I was still helping in the getting of those in the cars outside when I called and asked if there was anyone who could hurry back to the nearest telegraph office and wire for help, which the conductor said was not far away.

"Then it was that a man rushed up to me and said that he was a telegraph operator, but that his wife was killed. I tried to make him understand first that his wife was probably only hurt and in the next place if he could get a doctor or lots of doctors there he would be saving the lives of many people and his wife among them. If he could telegraph, he must run to the nearest station and if no one was there break open the door and call for help. I saw him or rather felt him grope his way off in the darkness on his mission. I learned afterward that when he got to the station, his mind was so much affected that he could not tell his own name. And I also learned that his wife was dead from a broken neck.

"The wait through the terrible darkness was something beyond description. There seemed to be no way in which we could help the suffering and especially the women, for while it was fortunate that the lights went out and saved the wreck from catching fire, it made the wait for assistance to come simply unbearable.

Mother Thought Only of Baby.

"One woman, who gave her name as Mrs. Clay, I believe, although she was suffering untold agony, refused to think of herself and only cried incessantly for her baby. This baby was only 6 months old but it escaped without a scratch, and later on was perhaps the quietest one of all in the wreck. The mother's face was terribly mashed and all of her teeth knocked out, but when she learned that her baby was all right she became as brave as any one could possibly be.

"It was remarkable how well all of the people behaved, the white people, at any rate. Of course the colored people were terribly demoralized, and for the most part were of no use whatever in the way of helping those who were hurt.

"It seems little less than a miracle that so many got out alive and with as few injuries as they did."

"I want to especially speak of the good work done by the trainmen. So far as was possible they did all in their power, and I can hear that flagman and porter calling out of the darkness for some one to flag the coming train, which showed that he had not lost his head although he was so terribly injured."

Conductor Chapmen said that he had been in many wrecks, but nothing that in any way could approach this one. The way the cars were stacked up the terrible fall of 25 or 30 feet, and then the falling of another engine and cab on the top of the train below much such a spectacle as he hoped that he might never see again.

J. Frank Meador, another Atlantan, who was in the wreck, left the train that arrived last night at Greenwood. Conductor Chapman and others stated that he was not injured unless it was from a sprained ankle.

Jerome Silvey's Story.

Jerome Silvey, one of those in the wreck, had an interesting story to tell of his experience.

"It was about 1 o'clock in the morning, I think," said he, "when the wreck occurred. We had passed through Monroe, in North Carolina, about one hour before, and were just 3 miles within South Carolina, when we came to the Catawba river. The train had crossed the river and was just ascending the bank o nthe other side. Then the bridge gave way and we were hurled into the darkness.

"The car in which I was sleeping was the last on the train. We were dumped over the track and on the ground beneath as the bridge gave way. Our car was the only one which left the trestle, the others remaining on the track.

"In a momen there was awful confusion in the car. We crawled out of our berths, but found it impossible to leave the cars. Just at this time I heard the negro porter cry out, 'My God! We are lost. The freight train is due in six minutes and there is no way to stop it.'

"And every one waited in that car for the train to strike. Six wearier, more anxious minutes I never passed in all my life. The slight jar we felt when we left the track and the injuries resulting from that fall were as nothing compared with the feeling of hopelessness which seized me when I knew that another car was coming crashing along and that no earthly power could stop it.

"The six minutes came to an end and the freight rolled into us. I rather doubt if any one in the Pullman would have been hurt to any extent at lease if that freight had not struck us. As it was, the engine plowed its way into the first-class cars, killing and maiming on its way, and the rest of the cars piled over us, crushing down the Pullman with their weight.

Second Wreck Caused Deaths.

"I believe that this second wreck was the cause of so many deaths. I think that there was anly one death before this time. A telegraph operator's wife was killed. The husband came from the first-class cars and wanted to know what he could do. Mr. Toepleman, one of those in the wreck, told him that the best thing that he could do would be to go to the nearest station and telegraph for aid. He did so, and several hours afterwards a relief train pulled in with a number of doctors on board. I think they came as son as possible, and that everything possible was done for us.

"We were all taken back to Monroe, and they wanted to put my wife in the hospital there, but I decided to bring her home. A train left Monroe at 9 o'clock this morning, and I came back on that one, bringing my wife with me.

"Mrs. Silvey is not seriously injured. A little after the wreck we observed a woman with a broken jaw. My wife tried to go and help her and became conscious at that time that she was hardly able to move. Her injuries are the result of bruises and nervous shock, but the doctors believe that she will be well in a short time.

"I was curious to know what was the cause of the accident, and thinking it best to find out from headquarters, went to the engineer. He said that the bridge gave way under us and caused the accident. And I suppose he knew. The engineer was not badly hurt."

STOCK HANDLERS OUT OF PLACES

Informed That They Will Get Jobs Only as Individuals.

Chicago, September 9.—Over six hundred live stock handlers, who went out on a strike, appeared at the office of Manager Skinner, of the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company, today to apply for their old positions. He had previously announced that he would employ all the old men needed.

Members of the other unions were not so much in evidence when work was begun at the packing houses today. Most of the men did not know that the strike was off. President Donnelly has received a telegram from the last member of the international executive board of the butchers, giving permission to call off the strike.

None of the stock handlers were taken back, being informed that they would be sent for when needed. It is understood that before going to work they will be required to sign an agreement setting forth that they return as individuals and not as an organization.

Business Agent Golden, of the teamsters, said that the teamster will go back to work as an organization or not at all.

The following statement was issued by James Tracy, secretary of the allied trades conference board:

"The strike was one of the most remarkable that has ever occurred. It was remarkable for the absence of disorder, although 50,000 men and women were involved. It proves that labor organizations are law abiding bodies and their men are engaged in peaceful methods to uplift the masses. It is remarkable for the fact which is even attested by the police, that our ranks were practically unbroken in spite of most adverse conditions. The self-sacrifice and heroism of the struggle has never been told, probably never will be. Like all strikes, it ended in a victory for the workers, because rather than risk such a struggle, the employers will be ready to treat with the unions in the future on an equitable basis."

HELPED TO PLACE MURDEROUS MINE

Slagel Confesses and Implicates Twelve Others.

Deported Colorado Union Miner Says He Aided in Laying Dynamite and Wires Which Did Deadly Work at Independence and Vindicator.

Topeka, Kan., September 9.—B. F. Slagel, alias Robert Romaine, a deported Colorado miner under arrest here for burglary, has confessed to the county attorney to complicity in the Independence depot and the Vindicator mine explosions in the Cripple Creek disaster last June, by which fifteen non-union miners were killed.

Romaine says he hepled to place the dynamite and wires running beneath the depot and by which the charge was set off. Romaine gave the names of those whom he alleges were implicated with him in the plot.

Slagle or Romaine, in his confession, implicated twelve other men. Two of the names the local sheriff refuses to divulge.

The others as given were Jesse Waters; Foster, McKinney, Louis Tipsell, Jim Hicks, Carl Nelson, Davis, Kennison, Beck and Campbell.

The confession was made before County Attorney Hungatt and Sheriff Lucas and sworn to before a notary public.

Slagel Worked in District.

Cripple Creek, Colo., September 9.—Sheriff Bell said today of Slagel or Romaine:

FLAMES RAGING IN PROGRESSO

Mexican City Helpless Before Ravages of Great Conflagration.

Progresso, Mexico, September 9.—A fierce fire broke out here at an early hour yesterday and fanned by a strong breeze raged unchecked all day and did not yield to the efforts of the volunteer firemen, whose apparatus was wholly inadequate to cope with a conflagration of such magnitude. The fire wiped out an entire block of business houses, which for the most part were two-story structures occupied by firms engaged in the general merchandise business. The loss is estimated at over $1,000,000.

The burned territory consists of the square two blocks south of the water front and facing one of the principal plazas, directly opposite the custom house.

Fire fighting apparatus was sent by special train from Merida, the capital of Yucatan, to aid in fighting the flames, and although this assistance did not reach Progresso until a very late hour and after much damage had been done, the Merida firemen rendered valuable assistance and probably prevented the spread of the flames and prevented the total destruction of the city.

During the progress of the fire a great tank filled with alcohol, located in the part of the building occupied by the drug store, exploded, causing the flames to spread to various sections of the building and making it very difficult to stay the progress of the fire.

The ware houses in which Henequen was stored were burned to the ground and the loss on the fiber alone will aggregate $300,000.

In another building corn was stored and the loss on the cereal will reach $50,000. A large quantity of asphalt destined for paving the streets of Merida, the capital, was destroyed and a considerable loss entailed.

The loss of the dry goods and grocery, drug and coffee importing concerns will approximate $400,000. The balance of the loss fall upon th ebrokerage firms and small storekeepers.

This is the second disastrous fire which has visited Progresso within a year. Hardly a year ago a large conflagration raged here and wiped out several business blocks, entailing a loss of a million and a half dollars, a large amount of which was suffered by the consolidated railways of Yucatan, which had at that time recently constructed buildings and contents, which were entirely destroyed.

It is estimated that the loss from the present fire will aggregate (from $1,000,000 to $1,200,000, with but little insurance.

TRAIN WRECKERS CONFESS.

Three Negroes Who Attempted to Wreck Passenger Train.

Roanoke, Va., September 9.—The Baldwin Detective Agency, of this city, today captured Joe Furquin, "Major" Guthrie and Roland Gerst, three negroes wanted for attempting to wreck a passenger train on the Southern railway at a point near South Boston, Va., some time ago. The men were arrested near the scene of the attempted wreck and a telegram received here this evning from a detective is to the effect that Guthrie and Gerst have confessed. The men were placed in jail at South Boston after a preliminary hearing, at which they sent sent on to the grand jury.

COTTON HURT BY INSECTS

Farmers Near Columbus Complain of Inroads of Pests.

Columbus, Ga., September 9.—(Special.) If the cotton yield in this section of Georgia and Alabama is not cut off quite considerably it won't be the fault of various and divers industrious insects and worms. Every day farmers are in the city from nearby points in the two states bringing samples of cotton ruined by flies, bugs, sharpshooters and caterpillars. The ravages of the caterpillars are confined to a few farms below the city. The most common complaint is from a kind of fly which stings the cotton bolls, with the result that they blacken and die, the decay spreading from one small spot. A. T. Slaughter, of Harhis county, brought to town cotton plants from his county infested in the same manner. oJseph C. Houston, of Smith's Station, Ala., brought in bolls which he thought were infested with sharpshooters.

NOT LIMITED TO ONE PAPER

Registrars Notices May Be Printed in Several Papers of County.

Montgomery, Ala., September 9.—(Special.)—In an opinion rendered the secretary of state, the attorney general has ruled that when a county has only one paper and that of limited circulation, the notice of meetings of county registrars may be printed in more than one paper, this being regarded as necessary to a general distribution of the information. Pending the opinion the secretary of state has held up the payments of all advertising bills where more than one paper in a county has been used. Now, however, the bills will be paid at once, checks being mailed within the next few days.

In another opinion it is held that those officers whose terms has been extended by legislative enactment will not have new commissions for the extended terms; also that notaries public with powers of justice of the peace, are entitled to copies of the acts of the legislature the same as justices of the peace.

Big Tax Finds.

Reports of work done by tax commissioners in Jefferson and Macon counties have been received by Colonel Harvey E. Jones, states tax commissioner; also partial reports from Lauderdale and Montgomery counties, the time covered being from October 1, 1903, to date. The figures are as follows: Delinquent state licenses, $12,848.10; county, $6,360.30. Total, $19,208.40. Escaped, $2,838,048, yielding state tax of $18,447.32, and county tax of $19,654.89. Total, $38,102.21. Raises on under valuations, $3,690,064, yielding state tax of $23,985.40; county tax, $25,685.33. Total, $49,670.73. Total value of escapes and raises, $6,528,112, giving state tax of $42,432 nd county tax of $45,340.22. Total $87,772.94. Delinquent licenses of the state and raises for same, $55,282.82; delinquent licenses for county and raises and escapes, $51,700.52. Total receipts for state and counties, $106,981.34.

BITTEN ON HAND BY MANIAC NURSE HAS LOST HER MIND

NEW YORK, September 9.—Apparent proof that insanity may be communicated like hydrophobia is shown in a case which is attracting much attention among physicians at Bellevue hospital. The subject is Nellie Halpin, a trained nurse, who was bitten on the hand by an insane patient in the Kings county sanitarium nearly a year ago. Since then the wound has given Miss Halpin great pain and never completely healed. About two months ago she began to show signs of mental disturbance. These grew longer and finally her friends had the young woman removed from her home to the hospital. She now suffers severe convulsions, resembling the manifestations of rabies, while the mental delusions are almost continuous.

At Manassas.

THE social side of the present military meet at Manassas is a most delightful one, and during hours of recreation the officers from all sections are meeting about the "festive board" and discussing their mutual interests. On Tuesday Brigadier General R. W. Thomason and Colonel George Brown, surgeon First Georgia brigade, were given a breakfast by General Bell, comdander of the brown division at Manassas.

The party included a number of the most distinguished officers present at the encampment.

Last night Colonel George Brown entertained the Second Georgia regiment at General Bell's headquarters.

Miss Mitchell Entertains.

MISS LUDA MITCHELL entertained a few of her friends Wednesday evening at cards. The score cards were dainty Gibson heads, tied with different colored ribbons. Miss Eula Roberts presided at the punch bowl. In the receiving line party were Mrs. E. A. Whittiker, Miss Luda Mitchell, Miss May Smith. After the games were finished, ices were served. The guests were Misses Maymie Simpson, Eva Allen, Bettie Dennard, True Cochran, Mattie Dickerson, Lula Whittiker, Eula Roberts, Maude Whittiker, Celia Britt, May Smith, Luda Mitchell, Nina and Mable Hadley, Vesta Massey, Angie Massey, Mrs. P. The Delineator for October.

The October Delineator is a many-featured number, containing, in addition to a complete survey of the autumn fashions, entertaining fiction and special articles of wide interest. Richard Le Gallienne contributes the first part of an idyl, "Poet, Take Thy Lute," an exquisite dream tale, comprising some tuneful lyrics. There is also a clever bit of fiction by Ellen Douglas Deland, entitled "The Mother of Emmeline," and the first part of a story by Ethel Watts Mumford, "A Matter of Millions," a delightful commingling of humor and pathos. A series on "The Loves of Great Composers" begins in the number with the story of Beethoven and his "Immortal Beloved;" the paper, which is effectively illustrated, is filled with interest not only for music lovers but for every one who has a liking for romances of the heart. Christine Terhune Herrick writes of Field Hockey as a new form of recreation for girls; the article is presented with the hope of giving this healthful exercise a wider popularity in America, and is strikingly illustrated. The story of Mary Dunlevy concludes the series on "Great Women of Pioneer Times," and2Physical Exercise is discussed in "The Fountain of Youth." For young people are provided stories and pastimes that amuse as well as instruct, and the domestic interests are treated thoroughly and practically.

ANN JOHNSON FINED AGAIN.

For Third Time in Two Days She is Fined in the Police Court.

Annie Johnson, the young negro woman who came near hitting Officers Bonnell and Arthur with a cuspidor Thursday morning in the recorder's court room, appeared before Judge Broyles again yesterday afternoon to answer a charge of escaping from the city stockade. She had not been in the city prison an hour before she was seen on Decatur street, and sent to the police barracks by Officer Chiles.

She was fined $10.75 for this action.

When arraigned before Judge Broyles yesterday afternoon she was all smiles, admitted her guilt, and begged his honor to be light on her.

Judge Broyles asked her why she ran away from prison. She said that she had money in town and came to get it.

The one great virtue of Burnett's Vanilla Extract is purity. It is real vanilla extract and nothing but vanilla extract. Always use BURNETT'S.

MADE HOLES IN ASPHALT.

Contractor Sharkley Was Arrested But Decision in His Case Was Postponed.

A case was made against E. D. Sharkey, contractor for the new First Baptist church, which is being erected at the corner of Peachtree and Cain streets, charging him with violating that section of the city code which requires those who wish to excavate in the street to get permission from the city.

Mr. Blackburn, counsel for Mr. Sharkey, argued to Recorder Broyles that there was doubt in his mind as to whether such permission must be secured, and at his request the case was postponed until he could investigate the matter.

A fence has been erected on Peachtree street at the corner of Cain street. Mr. Sharkey, in having this fence put up, ordered holes made in the asphalt along Peachtree street.

Suicide of J. Van Smith at Spartanburg, S. C.

Spartanburg, S. C., September 9.—(Special.)—J. Van Smith, 60 years old, and a native of this county, committed suicide at his home near the Spartan mills this morning by placing a small 22-bore rifle at his breast and pushing the trigger, the bullet penetrating the breast and heart. When the rifle was discharged the explosion of the powder set fire to the clothing of the deceased and when the family went into the room to investigate into the noise they found the shirt of the dead man in flames and it was necessary to pour a vessel of water over the body to extinguish the blaze. Despondency and ill health have been thought to have caused the suicide.

TO CELEBRATE NEW YEAR TODAY

Jewish New Year Began Last Night at Sundown.

The celebration of Rosh Hashonah, the Jewish New Year, began at sun down yesterday afternoon and will end at sun down this afternoon.

The religious services in observance of the new year began last night at 8 o'clock at the Temple on South Pryor street. The services were conducted by Rabbi Marx, who delivered an address on "New Year Greetings."

Special services will be held at the Temple this morning at 10 o'clock. A feature of the service will be the musical programme, which will be rendered by the augmented choir under the direction of Professor J. Fowler Richardson. Dr. Marx will speak at this service on "Call to Duty."

This afternoon at 4 o'clock Rev. Benjamin Mayerovitz will deliver a lecture in Hebrew at the synagogue, corner Piedmont avenue and Gilmer street. His subject will be "Go Out and Stand Upon the Mountain Before God."

In honor of the new year all the Jewish business houses will be closed for the day and no business will be done.

This is the beginning of the Jewish New Year 5665, according to the Jewish chronology. It is one of the most sacred of all the Jewish holidays, and is faithfully and solemnly observed. Following the new year there will be a period of ten days of penitential observance ending with Yom Kippur, which begins Sunday, September 18, and continues through the following Monday.

IN THE COURTS.

J. B Fleming and Mrs. Stella B. Fleming, his wife, filed suits for damages of $2,000 each against the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Western Union Telegraph Company, the Postal Telegraph Company, the Georgia Railway and Electric Company and the Atlanta Telegraph and Telephone Company yesterday.

Mrs. Fleming claims in her petition to have been injured by becoming entangled in some wires on the corner of Alabama and South Pryor streets. She alleges that the wires were negligently left on the streets and were a nuisance. She says that her body and internal organs were injured, and that a piece of the wire penetrated her nose, causing her nasal passages to become inflamed.

The petition was filed by Burton Smith.

Nellie Thompson, through her next friend, D. F. Thompson, filed suit against the Southern railway yesterday for $20,000 damages.

In her petition, she states that on the morning of July 3, 1904, she was standing in her front yard, which is near the Swift Fertilizer Company. A bullet, fired, she alleged, by a flagman on a passing freight train, struck her in the throat and passed through her right shoulder. She states that the bullet was fired at tramps on the train in an endeavor to frighten them off. She claims carelessness and negligence on the part of the company's employees.

J. N. Brownlee filed suit yesterday against the Georgia Railway and Electric Company, asking for $7,000 damages for injuries received.

The committee appointed some time ago by Judge Reid to formulate special rules for the government of the city court reported yesterday. Their report will be considered next Friday.

Some surprise was occasioned at the court house by the fact that the name of W. Woods White, former chairman of the grand jury, was omitted from the revised grand jury list. Mr. White was foreman of the grand jury of the spring term. This body probed deeply into the money loan situation, the fee system, and a number of other matters. The present grand jury list will serve for this year only and will probably suffer revision next year.

Menzo White, recently arrested on the charge of gambling, plead guilty to the charge in the court of Judge Calhoun yesterday and was fined $100.

Judge Wilkinson yesterday sustained the demurrer of the United States government to the habeas corpus proceedings of David Carroll, of Atlanta, who, it is claimed, is a deserter from the United States navy.

Carroll was recently arrested in this city on the charge of being a deserter from the United States navy. He swore out a writ of habeas corpus in an attempt to secure his freedom, but the action of Judge Wilkinson yesterday in sustaining the government's demurrer cuts off his escape in this direction unless he carries the matter to a higher court.

Parliamentarians at St. Louis.

St. Louis, September 9.—The Inter-Parliamentary Union, composed of 226 delegates from America, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, England, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Roumania, Sweden and Switzerland, arrived here on two special trains today and next week will hold their twelfth annual session. This body is composed of the members of the national legislatures and was organized in Paris in 1888.

Range War in Montana.

Butte, Mont., September 9.—Another range war between cattle men and sheep men has broken out in the country adjoining Prior mountain, across the Wyoming line. The camp of George Crosby, a Mormon, was attacked at night and 400 or 500 of his sheep killed by driving them over a cut in a canyon.

TO BUILD ANNEX AT HIGH SCHOOL

More Room Is Needed for Accommodation of Girl Students.

Provision will be made by the finance committee of council for the construction of a two-story brick annex for the Girls' High school, facing on Washington street. It is expected that the preliminaries will be arranged and the construction of this building will begin within the next two weeks.

Luther Z. Rosser and Dr. L. P. Stephens, of the board of education, went before the finance committee of council yesterday to explain the needs of the board for the remainder of the current year. It is estimafed that the board will require about $16,000 additional to pay the necessary expenses of the public schools up to January 1.

One of the principal expenses is the construction of this annex to the Girls' High school in order to relieve the overcrowded condition of many of the rooms. In some of the rooms the girls have had to take seats by windows where they would be liable in cold weather to catch cold and perhaps become seriously ill.

The question of closing all the schools two weeks or more ahead of the usual time was discussed as a means of relieving the financial situation in which the board finds itself, but it was held that it would be better to have the grammar schools remain open for the full time and, if necessary, go without making provision for the increased attendance at the Girls' High school.

Finally the finance committee of council decided to visit the Girls' High school and look into the situation for itself. This visit, in company with Dr. Stephens, impressed upon the committee the importance of making adequate provision for the excess number of pupils in the school and the board of education was requested to submit an estimate of what the necessary annex would cost. It is thought a brick structure such as is needed can be built for $3,000 to $3,500. It is believed the finance committee will, at its next meeting, authorize the board of education to go ahead with the construction of the annex with the assurance that the money to pay for it will be provided in the October sheet.

Board of Education Meets.

The board of education held a called meeting at the Boys' High school yesterday afternoon and the Girls' High school annex was one of the subjects discussed. The board appointed a special committee, composed of Luther Z. Rosser, Courtland S. Winn, Miss Nettie Sergeant and D. W. Winburn, with full power to act, to confer with the finance committee of council with regard to the annex. It is believed arrangements will be made to begin the construction of the building within the next few days.

The board authorized the establishment of a new first grade at Edgewood avenue school, and also at Fair street school. In these grades will be seated those children who could not secure seats in the Grant park school, as well as others who have not yet been provided for in these school districts themselves.

The board also authorized the preparation of one or two rooms as may be necessary in the hallway of the Boys' High school. These rooms will be made by partitioning off the northeast and northwest corners of the hallways and one or two classes will thus be provided for as the occasion may require.

Assistant Superintendent Landrum has made arrangements for taking care of all of the overflow at the Grant park school. The children who could not secure seats in this school have been transferred to Edgewood and Fair. The overflow pupils at the Davis street school have been transferred to Marietta and Walker street schools and all have practically thus been provided for.

CASE AGAINST CONTRACTORS.

Donaldson and Pearson Are Charged With Cutting Holes in Peachtree Asphalt.

By direction of Mayor Howell a case was made yesterday against Contractors Donaldson & Pearson, who are building the new First Baptist church, at Peachtree and Cain streets, for violating the city ordinance against digging up permanent street paving.

The city council gave the contractors permission to close up the east side of Peachtree street and the sidewalk during the erection of the stonework of the new church, but did not grant permission for cutting into the asphalt. Notwithstanding this the contractors went to work and cut twenty-three post holes in the asphalt, going clear through the concrete foundation. It is said water will pass through these holes and get underneath the pavement thereby seriously damaging it. The contractors will be called on in police court today to explain why they cut these holes in the asphalt pavement without permission.

Democratic Day at Chautauqua.

Dunkirk, N. Y., September 9.—This was democratic day at the Chautauqua county fair. Professor Duncan McGregor, of Pittsburg, was the principal speaker. In closing he said: "I firmly believe that unless the principles of democracy which gave her birth are allowed to exercise their God-given functions in this government imperialism in time will hurl out Goddess of Liberty from her throne."

Oppose Labor Ordinance.

Leeds, England, September 9.—The Trades' Union congress today unanimously adopted a resolution protesting against the government's action in sanctioning the South African labor ordinance as opposed to the best interest of British workmen at home and abroad, as sanctioning conditions of labor unfit for human beings and as contrary to the anti-slavery traditions of the British empire.

Blacksmiths Ask Closed Shops.

New York, September 9.—Blacksmiths in the ship yards hereabouts who have been working on the open shop plan have made a demand on the New York Metal Trades' Association for closed shop and recognition of the International Brotherhod of Blacksmiths. Conferences are being held, but there is no talk of striking on the part of the men. About 1,000 are involved.

TO FORM AN ASSOCIATION.

Sash, Door and Blind Manufacturers Will Meet in Atlanta on Monday.

The Southern Association of Yellow Pine Sash, Door and Blind Manufacturers will be formed at a meeting of the representatives of that trade to be held in the Piedmont hotel convention hall Monday morning, September 12, at 11 o'clock.

Representatives of some fifty or sixty concerns manufacturing sash, doors and blinds, from all the southern states from Virginia to Texas, will be in attendance on the meeting, and an organization will be formed, similar to organizations in other trades, for the mutual benefit and protection of its members. The matter was only recently taken up, and the call for the meeting was issued by the O'Neill Manufacturing Company, of Rome, Ga.

The first day of the session will be devoted to organization and the election of officers. The meeting will be in session at least two and probably three days. Among the well-known Atlanta concerns which have been invited to become members are the Woodward Lumber Company, Colcord Lumber Company, W. L. Trathan Lumber Company, D. J. Ray, Phoenix Planing Mill Company, Randal Bros., C. O. Williams Lumber Company and others.

PRINCE ALERT CLIPS RECORD

Quarter Second Taken from Mile Pacing Record.

Syracuse, N. Y., September 9.—On a excellent track, but with a fairly heavy headwind in the stretch, Prince Alert this afternoon established new figures for pacing geldings without wind shields, going the mile in 1:59½. The previous record was 1:59¾, held by himself. With McDonald up, the gelding went the first quarter in 29¾ seconds, the half in :59, the three-quarters in 1:29¼ and the mile in the time given.

The judges announced their decision in reference to the 2:24 pace of Monday last, when Alta P. McDonald, relieving John Aylward, of Syracuse, won the fourth, fifth and sixth heats and race with Emblem.

Aylward and the mare were suspended for the balance of the season and $150 of the former's winnings awarded to McDonald. C. Pittman, of Trenton, N. J., was suspended for twenty days for not trying to win with Mixed Wood in the same event, and ten days additional for failing to drive out Fonda in the first heat of the 2:11 pace yesterday.

2:19 pace: Baron H., Jr., won in straight heats; Black Pebble second, Anglin Wilkes third. Eady D. and Sig. Boy also started. Best time, 2:13 3-4.

Special, free-for-all trot: Maxine won in two straight heats; Wentworth second, Lizonjere and Marion Wilkes divided third and fourth moneys. Best time, 2:09 1-4.

LOST WIFE AND CHILD FOR BASEBALL GAME

DES MOINES, IOWA, September 9.—Because her husband went to a baseball game over her protest, Mrs. Charles Evans, of Monterey, has committed suicide by taking poison. Her body as it fell to the floor accidentally struck her 10-months-old daughter, crushing and smothering it to death. When Evans returned home both were dead.

Nashville, Tenn., September 9.—(Special.)—One each was the record of the double-header played today by Atlanta and Nashville. The Crackers won the first game, 9 to 3. The Fishermen took the second, 5 to 2.

Few have been the times in the past when there has been such an exhibition of rank work as Nashville showed in the first game. Muffs, wild throws and fumbles fairly handed the contest to the Crackers on a silver platter. Winters started things by hitting an easy fly to left, which Knoll failed to reach, and which stands as a hit for Winters. This was the keynote to the game. Nashville's playing was loose; that of Atlanta gingery and errorless. The Crackers pounded Russell good and hard. Rucker also got his bumps, but they proved less disastrous on account of the fast fielding back of him.

In the second game Nickens and Dwyer were on the slab, respectively. Nashville played a steadier game and Atlanta was not as good in team work. For two innings it looked good for the Crackers, then things happened. Wiseman's free pass, hits by Knoll, Lowney and Accorsini and Feldhaus' sacrifice netted three runs for the Fishermen. Two more in the fourth cinched things. Atlanta scored in the second when Demont made first on Lowney's error, was sacrificed to second by McCay and scored on Clarke's two-bagger to right field. Morse hit safe in the fourth, Demont sacrificed him and he came home on Krug's long single to left. Dwyer was wild and easy for the Fishermen. Nickens was a puzzle to the Crackers. George Winters struck out three times out of four times at bat. McCay's work at third was little short of wonderful, as he flagged ball after ball that looked good for a hit each.

COTTON EASIER IN ALL MARKETS

Weather Was Generally Favorable and Receipts Increasing.

IN SIGHT FIGURES HEAVY.

Wall Street Kept Hammering the Market, and the Close Was Barely Steady at a Decline of 11 to 14 Points.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE'S REPORT ON WEATHER

Following is the New York Financial Chronicle's weekly weather and crop report, received over private leased wire by Messrs. Cothran & Co.:

"New York, September 9.—Our telegraphic advices from the south this evening denote that rain has been quite general during the week, and that at some points in Texas and a few localities elsewhere the precipitation has been excessive. A deterioration from various causes is complained of in portions of Texas, Mississippi, Tennessee and Alabama. Advices from Atlantic sections continue favorable, and although some damage from rain is reported at Statesburg, S. C., picking is progressing well and cotton has been marketed quite freely."

New York, September 9.—The cotton market opened easy at unchanged prices to a decline of 7 points in response to lower English cables, generally favorable weather advices and increasing receipts. Trading was moderately active during the early session. Liverpool continued easy after the local opening, and sent selling orders to this side, leading to the suggestion that the active covering noted in that market on the previous day had greatly cleared up the speculative situation in relation to September contracts and the delayed shipments from this side. At first the market here showed more or less irregularity, and as prices dropped back to about 30 points under the high point of yesterday there was a fair demand from the scalpers on the reaction theory. Wall street kept hammering the market, and with hardly a reaction of more than five or six points the list worked steadily downward until in the afternoon it showed a net loss of about 15@17 points. Later there was a rally of six or seven points on covering and reports that a tropical storm that has been working up from the West Indies had reached Florida and it was likely to spread over the entire eastern belt. This stimulated demand only for a moment, however, the market was finally barely steady at a net loss of 11@14 points, or nearly the lowest for the session. Sales were estimated at 300,000 bales, or a little better than yesterday. Full exports were reported, but receipts also ran full and the large into sight for the week had some influence on the decline of the early afternoon.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, September 9.—Spot cotton in good demand, but lower to sell. Buyers demand concessions, but most factors refuse to grant. Sales 5,300, including 4,300 bales to arrive. Quotations 1-16c lower.

Futures opened easier, prices being 5 to 7 points down. Both Liverpool and New York were easier. The offerings in the local market exceeded the demand, and prices gradually declined until they wre well below yesterday's closing figures. In spite of the fact that the weather map has been favorable for some time past crop reports continued as alarming as ever. Reports from Texas and Mississippi were particularly bad, and told of great damage by the boll weevil and boll worm and by rust and shedding. In the trading October opened 5 points lower at 10.17 and finally declined to 10.06. The market closed easy with net losses of 14 to 16 points.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, September 9.—In dry goods buying has not shown any material increase and buyers are proceeding very cautiously. Some slight price changes have occurred, but the feature of the day has been the announcement of a price of 5 cents on Amoskeag staple ginghams

Atlanta Receives First Bale.

Atlanta received three new bales of cotton by wagon today. The first was brought in by Mr. J. H. McConnell, of Clayton county. It classed strict low middling and brought 11¼c per pound. He was followed fifteen minutes later by Bill Arnold, of Henry county, colored, and Mr. Morris White, also of Henry county, who received 10¾c and 10½c respectively for their bales. This is about one week earlier than last year. Mr. W. J. Riordan, cotton buyer at 23 South Forsyth street, was the purchaser.

Hester's Weekly Crop Statement.

New Orleans, September 9.—Secretary Hester's weekly New Orleans cotton exchange statement ,issued before the close of business today, shows that the amount brought into sight for the week ending this date is 180,281 bales, against 41,937 for the seven days ending September 9th last year, 198,497 year before last and 108,856 same time in 1901.

This makes the total amount for the nine days of the new season 212,474, against 46,485 last year, 265,930 year before last and 128,939 same time in 1901.

The statement shows receipts at all United States ports since September 1st 154,475, against 24,771 last year, 163,685 year before last and 66,971 same time in 1901; overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to northern mills and Canada 5,254, against 169 bales last year, 3,968 year before last and 1,521 same time in 1901; interior stocks in excess of September 1st 17,745, against 9,405 last year, 43,666 year before last and 12,287 same time in 1901; southern mill takings 35,000, against 12,140 last year, 54,611 year before last and 48,160 same time in 1901.

Foreign exports for the nine days have been 92,782, against 12,231.

The total takings of American mills, north and south and Canada, thus far for the season have been 164,724, against 38,243 last year. These include 29,624 by northern spinners, against 26,103.

Since the close of the commercial year stocks at American ports and the 29 leading southern interior centers have increased 63,135 bales ,against an increase for the same period last season of 1,023, and are now 53,125 more than at this date last year.

Including amounts left over in stocks at the ports and interior towns from the last crop, and the number of bales brought into sight thus far for the crop, the supply to date is 374,441 against 214,284 for the same period last year.

COTTON—Trading has again been local with persistent pressure by the bear parties during the day. Excepting for a slight rally this has been successful in its purpose and the market has yielded from lack of buyers within the trade and without. New Orleans has also shown great weakness, due, it is said, to freer offerings of spot cotton. Apart from the attempted manipulation of the market, the absence of good buying shows the intrinsically high price of cotton, and while a reason is possible under an oversold condition, when it arrived, there is no substantial demand as yet to create an adequate basis for improvement. Until this comes, lower figures may be expected, with occasional improvement as a speculative covering demand is developed. Bad weather in the south may at any time change the outlook, but the tendency at present is to believe the recent damage over estimated.

WHEAT PRICES HAD A LOWER TENDENCY

Weather Was Ideal Throughout Spring Wheat Country.

CAUSED EASIER OPENING.

December at the Close Was Unchanged—Corn Lost 7-8c—Oats Were 3-8 to 1-2c Down—Provisions Closed Practically Unchanged.

Chicago, September 9.—Fearing that the government crop bulletin, to be issued tomorrow, would not confirm in entirety the numerous recent damage reports, many traders disposed of their holdings of wheat today. As a result prices had a lower tendency. Final quotations on December wheat, however, were unchanged. Corn was off ⅞c. Oats were down ⅜@½c. Provisions closed practically unchanged.

Ideal weather throughout the spring wheat country counterbalanced the effects of higher cables, causing a somewhat easier opening, December being unchanged to ⅛c lower at $1.08@1.08⅜c. Immediately after the opening the market experienced an advance as an outcome for a heavy demand for May, and December also rose to $1.08⅝, but the higher prices brought out liberal realizing sales and the decline was as abrupt as had been the advance. During the first half of the session December hovered around $1.08. Although crop news in the northwest was as bullish as ever, the demand lacked the energy manifested of late. Several prominent operators who had recently been supporting the market had considerable wheat for sale. The selling by these big people was largely in preparation for a possible surprise when the government figures on the crop are given out tomorrow, the short session being generally considered a poor day on which to sell large lines. Toward noon the market reached the low level, December at $1.07¾. Some recovery was made on buying due to small primary receipts, the market closing fairly steady with December at $1.08⅜. Clearances equaled 149,600 bushels. Exports equaled 1,996,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 923,700 bushels, compared with 1,163,800 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported 424 cars, against 347 cars last week and 807 cars a year ago.

Excellent weather for the maturing of the crop was perhaps the main cause of a decline of nearly a cent in the price of corn. Another factor was the intimation that the government report would be a bearish character. Several large commission houses were persistent sellers. The market closed at almost the lowest. December opened a shade higher to ⅛@¼c lower at 52¼@52½c, sold between 52⅝@51½c and closed at 51½@51⅝c. Receipts 749 cars, 71 contract.

For a brief period oats showed firmness, but soon weakened in sympathy with other grains. During the greater part of the day trading was light. December opened a shade higher at 33c, sold off to 32½c and closed at the bottom. Receipts 174 cars.

Provisions opened firm on buying for outside account, but later selling of pork by pit traders caused an easier tone. January pork closed 5c lower at $12.52½. January lard unchanged at $7.17½ and January ribs a shade lower at $6.60.

Eseimated receipts tomorrow: Wheat 70 cars; corn 563 cars; oats 165 cars; hogs 11,000 head.

IF YOU ARE A CANDIDATE AND WANT THE VOTES OF THE PEOPLE, PUT YOUR ANNOUNCEMENT IN THE CONSTITUTION AT ONCE.

Increasing the number of representatives in the legislature.

A PROCLAMATION.

By His Excellency, Joseph M. Terrell, Governor of the State of Georgia:

Executive Department, July 27, 1904.—Whereas, the general assembly, at its session in 1904, proposed an amendment to the constitution of this state, as set forth in an act approved July 27, 1904, to-wit:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, That paragraph 1, of section 3, article 3, of the constitution of Georgia is hereby amended by being stricken and having in lieu thereof the following substituted: "Paragraph 1. The house of representatives shall consist of not more than one hundred and eighty-three (183) representatives, apportioned among the several counties, as follows, to-wit: To the six counties having the largest population, viz: Chatham, Bibb, Floyd, Fulton, Richmond and Thomas, three (3) representatives each; to the twenty-six counties having the next largest population, viz: Bartow, Bulloch, Burke, Cobb, Carroll, Coweta, DeKalb, Decatur, Dooly, Elbert, Emanuel, Gwinnett, Hall, Houston, Jackson, Laurens, Lowndes, Meriwether, Monroe, Muscogee, Sumter, Tattnall, Troup, Walton, Washington and Wilkes, two (2) representatives each, and to the remaining counties one (1) representative each."

Section 2. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That when said amendment shall be agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, it shall be entered upon the journal of each house, with the yeas and nays entered thereon, and published in one or more newspapers in each congressional district in said state for two (2) months previous to the time for holding the next general election, and shall at said next general election be submitted to the people for ratification in the following form, to-wit: "For Ratification" or "Against Ratification," and if a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, voting thereon, shall vote for ratification, having written or printed on their ballot "For Ratification," which votes cast at said election shall be consolidated as now required by law, in elections for members of the general assembly, and returns thereof made to the governor, then he shall declare said amendment adopted, and make proclamation of the result of said election by publication of results of said election in one or more newspapers in each congressional district of the state.

Now, therefore, I, Joseph M. Terrell, governor of said state, do issue this, my proclamation, hereby declaring that the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution is submitted for ratification or rejection to the voters of the state qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, at the general election to be held on Wednesday, October 5, 1904. JOSEPH M. TERRELL, Governor.

A PROCLAMATION.

By His Excellency, Joseph M. Terrell, Governor of the State of Georgia.

Executive Department, July 27, 1904.—Whereas, the general assembly, at its session in 1903, proposed an amendment to the constitution of this state, as set forth in an act, approved August 17, 1903, to-wit:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, that article 8, section 4, paragraph 1, of the constitution of the state be altered and amended by striking out the words "upon the recommendation of two grand juries," which begin in the first line after the word "counties" and end in the second line before the word "and," and substituting therefor the words "militia districts, school districts," and by inserting the words "militia districts, school districts" in the seventh line after the word "county" and before the word "or," and further by striking out the word "two-thirds" which begins in the seventh line after the word "a" and ends in the eighth line before the word "vote" and substituting therefor the words "two-thirds majority of those voting;" so that said paragrpah shall read, when amended, as follows, viz.: "Authority may be granted to counties, militia districts, school districts and to municipal corporations, upon the recommendation of the corporate authority, to establish and maintain public schools in their respective limits by local taxation; but no such laws shall take effect until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the qualified voters in each county, militia district, school district, or municipal corporation, and approved by two-thirds majority of persons voting at such election, and the general assembly may prescribe who shall vote on such questions."

Section 2. Be it further enacted, That if this amendment shall be agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses, the same shall be entered on their journals, with the ayes and nays taken thereon, and the governor shall cause said amendment to be published in one or more newspapers in each congressional district for two months previous to the next general election, and the legal voters at the next general election shall have written or printed on their tickets "Ratification" or "Against Ratification," as they may choose to vote, and if a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, voting, shall vote in favor of ratification, then said amendment shall become a part of said article 8, section 4, paragrph 1, of the constitution of this state, and the governor shall make proclamation thereof.

Now, therefore, I, Joseph M. Terrell, governor of said state, do issue this, my proclamation, hereby declaring that the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution is submitted for ratification or rejection to the voters of the state, qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, at the general election to be held on Wednesday, October 5, 1904. JOSEPH M. TERRELL, Governor.

By the Governor:
PHILIP COOK,
Secretary of State.

Ad valorem tax, constitutional limit.

A PROCLAMATION.

By His Excellency, Joseph M. Terrell, Governor of the State of Georgia.

Executive Department, July 27, 1904.—Whereas, the general assembly, at its session in 1903, proposed an amendment to the constitution of this state, as set forth in an act approved August 17, 1903, to-wit:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, That article 7, section 1, of the constitution of this state, be amended by adding to said section the following paragraph, as pragraph 2: The levy of taxes on property for any one year by the general assembly for all purposes, except to provide for repelling invasion, suppressing insurrection or defending the state in time of war, shall not exceed 5 mills on each dollar of the value of the property taxable in the state.

Section 2. Be it further enacted, That whenever the above proposed amendment to the constitution shall be agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses of the general assembly, and the same has been entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, the governor shall, and he is hereby authorized and instructed to cause said amendment to be published in, at least, two newspapers in each congressional district in this state, for, at least, two months next preceding the time for holding the next general election.

Section 3. Be it further enacted, That the above proposed amendment shall be submitted for ratification or rejection to the electors of this state at the next general election to be held, after publication as provided for in the second section of this act, in the several election districts of this state, at which election every person shall be qualified to vote who is entitled to vote for members of the general assembly. All persons voting at said election in favor of adopting the proposed amendment to the constitution shall have written or printed on their ballots the words, "For Ratification of the amendment to article 7, section 1, of the constitution of this state, so as to limit the levy of taxes on property for any one year by the general assembly to 5 mills on each dollar of the value of the property taxable in the state, except for the purpose of repelling invasion, suppressing insurrection, or defending the state in time of war;" and all persons opposed to the adoption of said amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the words: "Against the ratification of the amendment to article 7, section 1, of the constitution of this state, so as to limit the levy of taxes on property for any one year by the general assembly to 5 mills on each dollar of the value of the property taxable in this state, except for the purpose of repelling invasion, suppressing insurrection or defending the state in time of war." And if a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly voting thereon shall vote for said amendment, then said amendment shall become a part of the constitution of this state.

Now, therefore, I, Joseph M. Terrell, governor of said state, do issue this, my proclamation, hereby declaring that the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution is submitted for ratification or rejection to the voters of the state, qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, at the general election to be held on Wednesday, October 5, 1904. THE MOVEMENT IN READING VIOLENT

Held the Center of the Stock Exchange Stage.

INFLUENCED WHOLE MARKET.

Steel Preferred Was Suddenly Into the Advance and Lifted to a New High Figure on the Movement—Close Was Strong.

New York, September 9.—Reading held the center of the stock exchange stage today, and its violent movement was the dominant influence on the whole market. When it broke to more than a point under last night, after the market had opened strong, it was concluded that important speculative interests were getting out of the maraket, and the traders rushed to follow the movement. Union Pacific also got a point under last night, and the Pacifics continued to be affected by profit taking all day. When Reading made its violent rebound the traders concluded that the early selling had been on the short side rather than liquidation. United States Steel preferred was unusually sluggish during the greater part of the day, but it was suddenly brought into the advance and lifted to a new high figure on the movement. The Pennsylvania group and the hard and soft coalers generally were benefited in sympathy, owing to the advantage to them of a revival in the iron and steel trade. The late upward movement, in sympathy with United States Steel preferred, made the closing strong.

Bonds were active and firm. Total sales, par value, $6,210,000.

MARKET REVIEWS

Cothran & Co.

WHEAT—There was heavy selling of May by Armour. It was thought that the Patten line was sold out, while there was some selling by the northwest th local operators letting go here on f rs that the bureau report tomorrow may not be so bullish as anticipated. Armour was a big buyer of December, and it was finally thought that his operations put together embraced a large scalp on the market. Considerable nervousness prevailed, and while there are some strong features, especially the cash demand, we are inclined to look for further declines and would favor sales on the rallies.

CORN—There was a strong start on renewed commission house buying; also, by Cudahy brokers, based no doubt on a crop expert's report from the southwest, but the break in wheat started selling by the crowd, while private crop advices from different sections were of a nature to induce liquidation, and it was stated that Wall street had a tip on the bureau report of a bumper crop. Armour was influential seller, and the close was heavy all around with sentiment rather bearish.

OATS—There was fair commission house buying of the future with sample lots steady and offerings not large. A big commission house demand developed for December at 32½c and May at 35c, but the close was heavy with sentiment bearish.

PROVISIONS—There was some sentimental buying of product on the collapse of the strike, and some buying of lard evidently for packers, but offerings were in excess of the demand with the close heavy on pork and lard, while it is doubtful if the strength in ribs will hold.

STOCKS—The stock market today was irregular, with some departments advancing and others declining. This seems to be a continuation of the old programme of preventing a general recession and maintaining interest speculatively. It begins to look much as though it would be continued, and there is not much chance for bear profits. We would be cautious for a few days.

Miller & Co.

COTTON—Liverpool had to meet a flood of selling orders this morning, to close out hedges against spot cotton bought yesterday in the south. Offerings from the interior are increasing as the demand for shipment during the first half of September becomes exhausted. The recent hot, dry weather in Texas has caused all mature bolls to open and quite a large proportion of only partially matured bolls have done likewise, so that with good picking weather the amount of cotton that will be on the market in the next few weeks will be very great. The only danger to be feared is a general heavy rainfall, and of the aporoach of this there was no sign this morning. As a result prices gave way and were assisted in their downward movement by active hammering by the bear party. Late this afternoon, just before the close, a rumor was started that the storm had finally entered the gulf and that storm signals had been ordered up along the gulf coast. It was too late to verify such rumors before the closing, and the result was a recovery of 5 to 6 points from the lokest of the day. There is no doubt that a wet spell in the present state of the fields, which are said to be white with open cotton, would have the effect of making the short interest very uncomfortable, and possibly cause a considerable rally. But we must first get the storm and the wet spell before we can look for the recovery. The movement is rapidly assuming a normal—that is to say, large volume, in proportion to the size of this crop, which even at its worst, promises to be larger than any yet grown therefore the movement should be in large proportions. It looks as if farmers are willing to accept present prices, and unless something comes to change their present disposition or to retard picking and ginning, the market wil be called upon to absorb an unusual quantity of cotton in the next few weeks.

WHEAT—The bull movement that ruled all grain pits yesterday was in evidence for a few minutes at the opening, but better weather reports and supporting cables led to the liquidation of wheat, corn and oats. On the whole, cables only reflected a portion of our advance yesterday, and while there was little, if any, change in the northwestern reports, they seemed to come as a twice-told tale and stimulated very little new buying. On the other hand, some prominent local holders seemed to consider it a good time to take profits and the decline was helped along by some short selling—probably by Armour. On the break covering by shorts caused a moderate rally.

CORN opened firm in spite of lower cables, which were especially disappointing in view of the great strength shown in this market at the close yesterday. Favorable weather led both to long and short selling, the best buying on the break being by shorts and holders of puts for the day.

OATS have ruled dull and weak all day, being under constant pressure from nedging sales and liquidation by tired holders.

PROVISIONS—The speculative tone in provisions is very small. There is a good cash demand for both meats and lard. The settlement of the strike will result in liberal shipments of lard from here. We notice an inclination on the part of holders to sell October lard on each bulge lately, and on every strong market the packers selling January productions.

The Howell Jones Co.

COTTON—The cotton future market opened easy with first prices unchanged to a decline of 7 points. This was in response to the Liverpool cables which were less favorable than looked for. The weather conditions were generally favorable and the crop advices from the south were more or less favorable. Other bearish argument was made up as a result of the increasing movement of cotton and the apparent indifference of spot cotton interests. The latter were not much disposed to buy, regardless of the fact that Liverpool holders were reported to be increasing their lines, and irrespective of the tendency to report an impending improvement in the dry goods market and a probable early ending of the strike. Liverpool interests appeared to be selling the market and New Orleans houses also sent orders to sell. The southern markets were rather easy. There was some pressure during the day from the recognized local bear leader, and naturally outsiders on the long side were not very much encouraged. After the market had declined appreciably from the top level of yesterday, there was some buying on the reaction theory, but the market quieted down and this buying did not attract very much attention. The scalping element did a fa rlbusiness, but under their efforts, sentiment was rather conflicting among the pit interests. Port receipts were figured at about 25,000, against 14,193 last week and 9,510 last year. For the week 132,000, against 77,888 last week and 35,752 last year. On the close the trade was scattered among the professionals.

WHEAT—There was a rather narrow movement in the wheat market today, but the trade was extremely interesting for the reason that there were many important opinions current with regard to the probable movement in the near future. Commission houses did a fair business and were mostly on the buying side. Shorts were disposed to reduce their commitments, despite the indifferent cables and fair receipts, together with talk of some accumulation. There was a fair cash demand, however, and some improvement in the export market was anticipated. Some comment was indulged in with regard to the quality of the wheat arriving at the mills, and some of them were reported to be eager for supplies. The northwest was a buyer of wheat in spite of the favorable weather in the spring wheat district. The northwestern crop news was still conflicting, and the views on the probable extent of the yield covered a wide range. The statistics generally were about as expected, and they attracted but little attention. However, the Argentina shipments were somewhat smaller than heretofore, and foreigners were disposed to look for lighter Russian offerings. The continental markets were relatively stronger than the English markets.

CORN—On favorable reports from the corn region, longs proceeded to dispose of their holdings, which depressed the market smewhat. Before the bulls could recover themselves prices had declined 1½@1¾c, but before the close prices recovered ½@¾c of the loss, around which point it closed.

OATS—The oat market was quiet with a downward tendency. Prices declined about ½@¾c and closed weak.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were dull, there being very little demand. Prices declined 10@12½c and closed around this figure. Ribs and lard look cheap at the present figure.

L. J. Anderson & Co.

COTTON—The cotton market was only fairly active today. New York opened unchanged to 7 points lower in response to advices about as expected from Liverpool, that market closing 9@13 points lower for futures. Spot was 4 points lower with a fair demand at 6.76; sales 7,000 bales. The movement shows considerable increase, and the weather was favorable, under which prices were forced to a decline of 9@12 points on selling by the bear leader with Liverpool and New Orleans being on the selling side. In the afternoon the market ruled easy, with price changes small, the close being barely steady 11@14 points lower. Port receipts today 27,815, against 8,200 last year. For the week, 131,616, against 34,525.

WHEAT—The wheat market was weak today on good weather in the spring wheat region. Commission houses were free sellers. December opened unchanged to 1-4c lower at $1.08 1-4@1.08 3-8, and on profit taking sales and selling by some of the big operators the price broke to $1.07 3-4. Northwest news is still bullish and primary receipts were small, resulting in a recovery, the close being unchanged at $1.08 3-8. The government crop report to be issued tomorrow is expected to be somewhat less bullish. Primary receipts 923,700 bushels, against 1,163,800. Clearances 149,600 bushels wheat and flour. Exports for the week 1,996,000 bushels wheat and flour.

CORN—The weather was favorable for maturing the crop. Cables were lower and weakness in wheat were influences for a decline in corn. The government report is expected to be bearish. On liberal selling by large commission houses the market closed near the lowest, 7-8c down at 51 1-2@51 5-8c for December.

OATS were firm att he opening, but in sympathy with wheat and corn weakened and closed 3-8@1-2c down at 32 1-2c for December.

PROVISIONS—Heavy hog receipts and weak grain markets were depressing factors, though at the close prices were practically unchanged.

Southern Exchange.

September 9th—Cotton—The cotton market opened weak, chiefly influenced by the lower Liverpool markets and the generally favorable weather existing over the greater portion of the cotton belt. The heavy receipts, Galveston receiving over 11,000 bales, was an added bear help. New Orleans and Wall street sold, mostly December and January, the latter probably for the account of a prominent Wall street short. The bulk of the trading, however, was mostly for professional accounts. The technical position of the market from a bull point of view is getting stronger every day. On the recent advance short again became aggressive, and the market now has every appearance of an over extended short interest. At any rate, this interest is daily increasing, and we think it only a matter of a very few days when the short interest will be driven to cover in much the same manner as it was in the bear stampede a week ago. While small profits may from time to time be scalped on the short side of the market, this operation is extremely dangerous. More so now on account of too much company hich any day may find itself in a precarious condition. We consider the long side the safe one for the present and advise purchases at current figures.

WHEAT—Wheat opened unchanged to 5-8c. higher this morning on the stronger Liverpool cables, and made a further gain of 1-2c. on the covering of shorts, but on the bulge heavy profit-taking and aggressive bear selling, carried prices down from 1 to 1 1-4c. before support was encountered. The tone on the decline, however, was nervous and of a reactionary nature. A large elevator interest was credited with heavy selling of December wheat, possibly as a hedge against September contracts. Offerings throughout the morning session were heavy and buyers timid.

CORN—The market was steady at first on buying by shorts, but later reacted on the free offerings, increasing receipts, warmer weather and the easier tone of the surrounding pits. Cudahy was a seller of May, with shorts and the local trade the takers.

OATS—Were feeble and easier in sympathy with corn.

The Trade Situation.

New York, September 9.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Trade, crop and industrial developments have been generally favorable this week. The distributions on fall and winter trade account has enlarged at most markets, the corn crop has progressed another week toward final maturity which, however, this year is later than usual, and several industries hitherto greatly depressed or operating on short time, have resumed running full. The industrial situation is slightly less strained than it was, and the beef strike is now ended. In iron and steel, past, present and prospective, price reductions have encouraged inquiry, consumption has finally overtaken production and stocks of crude material are smaller. With the beginning of the crop movement which is reasonably heavy for this period has come improved collections and better railway earnings returns. August results point to a 6 per cent increase in gross receipts over a year ago. All in all, the prospects continue favorable for a fairly active trade in most lines, but nothing in the way of record-breaking is looked for in general business or in crop out turn.

"A fairly satisfactory jobbing business has been done at New York in dry goods; a slight improvement is noted at Boston and at Philadelphia the dry goods jobbing trade has opened well.

"There is a larger movement of shoes from eastern points, more demand for leather and some scarcity developing owing to curtailment by tanners.

"Eastern print cloth manufacturers are not pushing business at present prices.

"The woolen goods trade is not as active as might be wished, but raw wool is firmly held, and confidence in the statistical positions of that commodity is universal.

"The stubborn strength of prices is, perhaps, the most notable feature in the entire situation. Bradstreet's general index number shows a very small percentage of increase on September 1st over August 1st, with provisions and groceries, fruits, hides, leather, oils and breadstuffs showing most strength. The general level of prices at present marks an increase of 7.7 per cent. over June, 1901, a decrease of 3.8 per cent. from February, 1900, but a gain of 37 per cent. over the low water mark of July, 1899.

"In iron and steel the features are the announced reductions made in steel plates, structural materials and wrought pipe, following decreases in wire and nails. A fair business has been done in the steel rails at the west, but a very heavy tonnage is reported held back in hopes that the $28 price will be shaded. These reductions have certainly caused more inquiry to be made and in some instances, as in the case of wire and structural materials, new business has actually materialized. Rather more is doing in bituminous coal at the west, and while improvement is still only tentative, there is a tendency to insist on at least present quotations and no disposition to follow the market downward.

"Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending September 8 aggregated 1,995,621 bushels, against 1,830,511 last week and 3,045,040 this week last year. From July 1 to date the exports aggregate 14,460,283 bushels, against 31,255,168 last year.

"Corn exports for the week aggregate 446,231, against 710,562 last week and 844,418 last year. From July 1 to date the exports of corn aggregate 5,750,112, against 10,038,854 in 1903.

"Business failures in the United States for week ending September 8 number 144, against 189 last week and 165 in the like week in 1903. Failures in Canada for the week number 14, as against 17 last week and 12 last year."

A HIGHLAND AVENUE RESIDENCE

We have for sale a choice residence of 9 rooms, on corner lot, in the pretty part of Highland avenue. The place was formerly the home of Dr. R. M. Rose, who occupied the house until recently. It is an up-to-date place, tastefully designed and carefully built. We can sell the property for $6,000, which figure does not represent the cost of the house.

Let us show you the property.
